SHERIFF GRAY.

It is to be hoped that Sheriff Gray feels relieved. Perhaps, too, as he will discover by a glance at these columns that the PRESS AND TRIBUNE is in no wise dependent upon his good will or his official courtesy, for getting possession of correct news, he will not do so foolish a thing again as to exclude our reporter from the jail. We make the suggestion for his good. It is a matter of entire indifference to us.

AT SEA AGAIN.

Mr. Buchanan, we are told by the telegraph, declines to accept the Cass-Yrissari treaty concluded with Nicaragua; hence in our relations to that government, we are all at sea again. What scheme of fillibustering and slavery extension is hidden under the President's action, or what steamship speculators have influenced him, time will develop. We await the reasons of his refusal to ratify with some curiosity to know what objections there are to a treaty that seemed so eminently just and fair.

A FURTHER ADVANCE IN THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

The warlike news by the Niagara, published in yesterday morning's paper, caused a further advance of 6 to 7c on Wheat, and 25c on Flour in this market. On the 12th of April—little more than three weeks ago—No. 1 Red Winter Wheat was sold here as low as $1.20 in store, while yesterday, it was eagerly purchased at $1.47. During the same period Spring Wheat has advanced 20c per bushel. The sales in this market on Thursday and yesterday amounted to 135,000 bushels.

IMPROVEMENT OF BUSINESS.

Within the past fortnight a very manifest improvement has taken place in the business activity of our city. Not only is this true of business proper, as evidenced by the activity of our merchants, but also in the various industrial pursuits. But few idle men are to be seen upon our streets. Everybody seems to have something to do, and is doing it in a hurry. Our manufacturing establishments of almost every description, are beginning to hum and clatter as of old with busy industry. Our reaper builders are particularly busy. So too are our planing mills, our wagon manufactures, our engine-builders, and everybody else in the manufacturing line. The vast amount of improvement in progress in the city also gives employment to multitudes of laborers.—The pulling down and the removal to the suburbs of old buildings; the erection of new and spacious business blocks and private residences; the raising of first class buildings to grade; the building of area walls and the filling up of streets; the paving and Macadamizing almost everywhere in progress; the extension of water pipe and sewers; the laying down of horse railroad tracks—all these and various other public and private enterprizes have called into requisition hundreds of teams and thousands of mechanics and common laborers, and have imparted to the city much of the predominating characteristics it was wont to wear prior to the revulsion.

Hopeful accounts also reach us from the country. The present high price of breadstuffs and the probability of a foreign demand for the next two or three years, together with the late favorable weather, have imparted renewed courage and activity among the farmers generally. They are putting in unusually large crops, and such products as are already in a forward state are in the most promising condition. We shall undoubtedly have a season of abundance, which, with an almost absolute certainty of good prices, will put the whole country once more upon its feet. Every body is growing courageous, as these flattering prospects day by day are unfolded. The country undoubtedly is on the eve of a remarkable era of prosperity.

The River Parana.

The New York Times says that Capt. Faunce of the revenue cutter Harriet Lane, just returned from Paraguay, describes the river Parana as one of the finest rivers in the world—in depth ranging from fourteen feet to ten fathoms, and varying in width from one and a half to three miles, some of the widest portions being fifteen miles.

Minnesota Republican Convention.

The State Committee of the Republican party of Minnesota, met in St. Paul on Saturday last, and agreed upon the 20th of July next as the time at which the Republican State Convention will assemble for the nomination of State Officers and candidates for Congress.

Western Inventors.

The following Patents were issued from the United States Patent Office, for the week ending May 3, 1859:

W. R. Andrews and John Oswald, of Chicago, Ill.; for improved alarm water guage.

Ira Kinman, of Freeport, Ill.; for improvement in measuring faucets.

Olof Shostrom, of Altona, Ill.; for improved washing machine.

Wm. Walker, of Pontiac, Mich.; for improvement in water wheels.

Charles Miller, of Belleville, Ill.; for improved rotary engine.

The Wisconsin R. R. Farm Mortgages.

In allusion to a statement in this paper, based upon information supposed to be correct, that the Supreme Court of Wisconsin had agreed upon a decision declaring the farm mortgages and city and county bonds issued to railroads in that State, to be unconstitutional and void—the Janesville Gazette of yesterday says:

We do not believe the information imparted to the PRESS AND TRIBUNE is correct. If such a decision had been concluded upon, it is very improbable that it would have been known before it is formally announced from the bench; and it is believed that in the important cases where a decision had been made in the consultation room before the death of Chief Justice Whiton, a rehearing before the present Court will be had.

Election in St. Paul.

At the municipal election in St. Paul on Tuesday last, Col. A. D. Robertson (Dem.) was elected Mayor over H. J. Horn, (People)—the former receiving 1,755 votes, and the latter 1,503. For Aldermen, the Democrats had in nomination an Irishman from each ward, all of whom were defeated save one. The Minnesotian says on this subject:

The result of the election for Aldermen in the several wards of St. Paul was the complete and disgraceful defeat of the Irish Democracy. They had a candidate for Alderman in every ward of the city, as regular Democratic nominees. The returns show that the People have elected their men in three out of the four wards. Branch beats Pat. Nash by a decisive vote in the First; Wiley overcomes O'Gorman in the Third; and Berkey Pat. Murnan in the Fourth. In the Second, through the polling of at least 100 illegal votes, O'Connor is elected by barely forty majority. This is a glorious result. It gives us the control of the City Council for one and probably for two years. The American Democracy have used the Irish to carry in their city ticket. But "just as we expected," and as they did last spring, the Irish nominees were kicked and cuffed in all directions, and ignominiously defeated.

"The Irish are good enough to vote, but not to be voted for!"

☞ General Henningsen announces, in a letter to a Georgian paper, that he and several of his friends have withdrawn from the Arizona Expedition first formed, and have entered into a new compact, associating themselves under the title of Henningsen's Arizona Emigration Association. The members of this company are to rendezvous in Georgia during the month of July.

☞ Prof. Burrus, Phrenologist, of Cleveland, O., will lecture at Metropolitan Hall this evening, on the phrenological organs of Jumpertz, Sophie Werner, McNamee, Michael Finn and young Busch.

☞ Rev. G. A. Bowers, for five years pastor of the Lutheran Church, in Oregon, Ill., has just accepted a call to the First English Lutheran Church in this city.

RELIGIOUS FANATICISM AND MURDER.

A Father Kills His Daughter.

[From the Troy Times, May 3.]

The quiet Sabbath was broken in upon yesterday by the commission of a horrid murder, in the town of Sandlake, about fourteen miles from Troy, of a daughter by her father and only surviving parent, a man about 60 years of age named John Belding. The scene of the homicide is about four miles east of Sliter's tavern, and near the steam saw-mill on the Sandlake road. The parties lived in a little house, in which the father earned a livelihood for himself and daughter by following the trade of a shoemaker.

The daughter's name was Christina. She is about 19 years of age, and is described by the neighbors as a quiet and well behaved girl. She had been unwell for some time, and, it is said, had been under the care of a female doctress residing in Berlin, in this county, named Weaver. Her mind, it appears, was somewhat affected, but whether from religious excitement or from some other cause, we are unable to say. She labored under the impression that the devil had possessed her, and used to pray very frequently for deliverance from his grasp.

A day or two before the murder, the old man and daughter went over to the house of David Horton, who resided opposite the Beldings, when Christina said she had taken medicine of Mrs. Weaver, and it made her feel as if the "devil was in her, and she would scratch him off; but that she had thrown the medicine away, and drove the devil away, too." The old man had not done much work recently, as it affected the girl's head, and it is supposed that in consequence of his care of her, want of sleep, &c., his own mind had become temporarily affected, and while under the delusion that "Dena," as he calls her, was the devil, he killed her.

The account which Belding gives of the affair is, that he saw the devil lying on the bed, and he struck it in the face. The girl, it appears, was lying down in the back room. Belding followed her from that room to the front room, in which the murder was committed with a shoemaker's hammer. Her skull was completely smashed to pieces. Portions of the hair were lying over the floor. Her face, too, was considerably bruised, but no marks of violence were discovered on the other parts of her body. Belding says he thought she was the devil—that she appeared to him to be four times as "Dena"—that her face was too large for "Dena"—and from his previous and subsequent conduct there can scarcely be a doubt that the old man imagines he had a fight with the devil, or, as he expresses it, with "three devils, and he had all he could do to kill them." They lived alone in the house.

It is supposed the murder was committed about 12½ o'clock yesterday afternoon. The first person who discovered the murder was Nicolas Ryermiller, who first saw the old man outside the house. He appeared very much excited, and told Ryermiller that he had "killed the devil, and it was lying in there"—pointing to his house. Ryermiller looked in and discovered the dead body of the daughter. He asked the old man if it was not "Dena" that he had killed? Belding replied that he did not think it was. Belding's hands and shirt sleeves were covered with blood. Ryermiller testified before the Coroner's jury that the father and daughter had lived with him about six months previously to their residing in the house where the murder was committed, and that they always appeared happy together, and, as the witness expressed it, "never had any crazy times." Christina was a quiet, good girl.

THE CITY.

☞ Matt Peel, the world famous minstrel, died at Buffalo, on Wednesday last.

☞ The American Express Company has placed us under obligations for full files of San Francisco papers, via the overland mail route.

☞ Think of that; tomatoes from Savannah, Ga., served up at John Wright's yesterday, 85 Clark street. Appetizing circumstance.

☞ A chap named Greenwood, in some request at St. Louis, as having stolen $800 there, was shipped hence to that market in good condition yesterday.

☞ On Wednesday night last, the stable of A. B. Bigelow, on Wabash avenue, was broken into, and a saddle and buffalo robe stolen therefrom.

☞ Hon. C. C. Washburne, of Wisconsin; Hon. John A. Rockwell, of Conn., and Ex-Gov. W. A. Barstow, of Wis., are amongst the arrivals at the Tremont.

AFTERNOON SERVICES AT METROPOLITAN HALL.—The sermon at Metropolitan Hall on Sabbath afternoon, will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Foster of the Northwestern University. As these services are open to all, it is hoped the house will be filled.

GREEN PEAS.—Messrs. G. and M. S. Jones, No. 584 State street, corner of Twelfth, have sent us a fine mess of green peas, the "first of the season." Our readers will doubtless infer that they have plenty more of the same sort.

☞ It is a matter of justifiable satisfaction hereabouts that the notorious fugitive John Farrell, the hackman who drugged and robbed of $800 his passenger, an old man named Eaton, in December last, has been arrested at Toronto, and will shortly be brought to this city to answer to the crime.

THE THERMOMETER.—The thermometer, yesterday, at Reed and Co.'s Drug store, on Lake street, stood at 55° at seven o'clock A. M., at 83° at twelve M., and 80° at six o'clock P. M.

The Barometer stood at 29:50 at seven o'clock A. M., at 29:50 at twelve M., and 29:40 at six o'clock P. M.

☞ The alarm of fire yesterday at at 2 A. M., was caused by the burning of a two story frame house on the corner of Halsted and Black Hawk streets. owned by F. Jasper, occupied by Philip Seigler. Furniture saved. Loss on house about $800; insured for $600 in the Ætna.

☞ A most melancholy accident occurred on Thursday afternoon on the corner of Munroe and Throop streets, in the West Division, when a little child, two years old, was drowned at the house of a Mr. Mayers. The child was playing about a tub of water standing in the yard, and it is supposed fell into the same. An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner James.

SEASONABLE.—The popular Soda Fountain of J. H. Reed & Co. was put in operation yesterday, to the infinite delectation of thirsty pedestrians on Lake street. Persons who drink therefrom, may know that they are gulping down no base imitations—the product of the laboratory—but that their beverages are flavored with the pure juice of whatever fruit they desire.

HERNIA OR RUPTURE.—Dr. Reynolds, of New York, has lately received letters patent for a new belt truss. It is so made that it conforms exactly to the anatomy of the parts, is worn with the ease of a "neck-tie," and gives to the patient the comfortable and efficient support so much desired. Persons wishing to make a trial of this truss can do so by calling on the agent, Dr. Fowler, who will be a few days at No. 100 Lake street, over Tripp, Hale & Co.'s store, where he is prepared to fit every case.

☞ May was "etherial mildness come" yesterday. The skies were of the bluest, the sunshine of the brightest, the breezes balmy, not to say sultry. We doubt not that form of shoemaker known as sherry cobbler suffered some from the effects of such weather, also iced drinks and viands generally. Joy pervaded the community, we mean he of the yellow ice-carts. The buds threw off their spring overcoats, the grass grew an inch or so and the water carts were welcome in the dusty streets. May did herself credit yesterday.

☞ We are glad to see improved tokens of market gardens and early vegetables in this vicinity. Already lettuce, asparagus, and other early verdants are hawked about town to the doors of our citizens, or high piled at the market stalls. Not as in former years, on account of exorbitant rates, are our thrifty housewives forced to say to these hucksters: "None of your sass," for lettuce at from two to four cents the liberal-sized head, and asparagus at from fifteen to eighteen cents per ditto bunch, are moderate rates "for Chicago." We have the soil for market gardens; let it be improved.

☞ The 7:45 A. M. passenger train over the Chicago, Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne Railroad yesterday, brought to this city a man unknown, run over and fatally injured by that train, while walking on the track near the Indiana State Line. He was seen by the engineer too late to check the speed of the train. He was placed in the care of Dr. Foster, and died about an hour afterwards. For information in regard to the body, apply at Mr. Berry's undertaker's shop, on Washington street, or to the Coroner, No. 14 Court House. He was 5 feet 10 inches high—had brown hair, dressed in black frock coat, black satin vest, drab pants, blue overalls, and a white shirt market I. H. D.

Execution of Michael McNamee
FOR THE MURDER OF HIS WIFE, JANE McNAMEE,
AT CHICAGO, JULY 1st, 1858.

THE CRIME AND THE CRIMINAL.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS IN AND ABOUT THE JAIL.

Mode and Law of Execution.

Appearance of Finn and Jumpertz.

THE SCENE AT THE GALLOWS.

SHOCKING CIRCUMSTANCE!

McNamee Precipitated Fifteen Feet by the Giving Way of the Rope!!

The Sister of McNamee—His Children.

Yesterday closed the awful final chapter in one of those series of appalling crimes which from their number gave to the brief space of time including these events, a place without a parallel in the annals of our city, and will cause the "Scarlet Era," the few months preceding the midsummer of 1858, to be long held in remembrance. Yesterday the case of Michael McNamee was carried by his naked spirit before a tribunal whose records know no errors, and whence no appeals are taken. As the event of yesterday, one which created a most profound sensation in our community, it is the more marked as being the first instance under the new regime of the death penalty in our State. An Act passed during the last session of our Legislature abolishes henceforth the public executions in Illinois. The following is the first section of the Act, which provides

That whenever any person shall be condemned to suffer death, by hanging, for any crime of which such person shall have been convicted in any Court of this State, such punishment shall be inflicted within the walls of the prison of the county in which said conviction shall have taken place, or within a yard or inclosure adjoining such prison.

The list of attendants upon the scene is limited by the same act, to

The judges, prosecuting attorney, and clerks of the courts of said county, together with two physicians and twelve reputable citizens, to be selected by said Sheriff or his Deputy. And the said Sheriff or Deputy Sheriff shall, at the request of the criminal, permit such ministers of the Gospel, not exceeding three, as said criminal shall name, and any of the immediate relatives of said criminal, to be present at such execution, and also such officers of the prison, deputies and constables, as shall by him be deemed expedient to have present; but no other persons than those herein mentioned, shall be permitted to be present at such execution; nor shall any person not a relative of the criminal, under the age of twenty-one years be allowed to witness the same.

Until the execution of William Jackson about two years since, nearly a score of years had passed without an event of the kind in our county. The case of Staub succeeded it the year following, that of McNamee has nearly the same interval.

Those who were cognizant of a spectacle forced upon many of our citizens, strongly discreditable to our common humanity, the excited herd of people who on the two previous executions hung about the death passage of the wretched felons, and followed miles the Sheriff's cortege, to feast their eyes upon the gallows and its ghastly burden; the humane and wise will rejoice that yesterday most strikingly attested the beneficence of the change effected. All was decency and stillness. The Court House, the Temple of Justice, was throughout the day given up to the officers of the law. The police held the entrances of the square against the curious and idle gazers, and within its enclosure its windows curtained against the sunlight, the last dread scene was enacted. Those very few who have felt that it might be possible that in the abolition of the public execution of the death penalty would be surrendered the salutary effect of public warning, must have learned yesterday that nothing is lost but the brutalizing and hardening influence of a spectacle satiating the baser tastes, while the knowledge that within the jail a fellow mortal was paying the forfeit of his life, had of dread and awe what the open spectacle would have failed to produce.

Probably many thousand persons passed or paused at the Court House enclosure yesterday, disappointed and debarred of a spectacle they would not have voluntarily missed. Our railroad men inform us that from towns adjoining, Joliet, Freeport, Kenosha, &c., and even from Michigan City, there were parties who visited Chicago yesterday to "see the hanging." These of course possess a disappointment little creditable to their taste or humanity.

THE CRIME.

Of the three condemned men sentenced to execution on yesterday, May 6th, at the close of the January term of the Circuit Court, two, Finn and Jumpertz, are still awaiting a final decision of their case, the former under a brief respite, as published yesterday, the latter to await the decision of the Supreme Court under a motion for a new trial.

The crime of Michael McNamee was the murder of his wife, Jane McNamee, on the first of July, 1858, in the tenement occupied by them over Wright & Currier's livery stable, on Michigan street, where he filled the place of a hostler. The relations of the parties were unhappy. Both were of intemperate habits, and the wife had not hesitated to rouse the anger of her husband by other practices which gave to their wretched home no place or hope for peace. The spectacle presented at their rooms was a shocking one, on the fearful morning of July first, 1858, when the word passed from mouth to mouth through our city, and hundreds of citizens gathered to witness the last and darkest triumph of the demon of drink, a wife and mother slain by her husband in the presence of her children, in a drunken quarrel between the besotted pair.

Michael McNamee was born in Fermanagh County, Ireland, in the vicinity of Enniskillen. He was about thirty-two years of age, a person nothing in talents or their cultivation above the laboring class of his countrymen. He has been in this country thirteen years. At Philadelphia, about the year 1851, he married a countrywoman, Jane O'Brien. The pair resided in New Haven, Conn., where he was a drayman. Their offspring are Andrew and Mary Jane respectively, five and four years of age, children of marked promise, and who, themselves, aside from the sympathy induced by their forlorn orphanages, have won many friends among our citizens since the dread event that has cost them both their parents.

About two years since the McNamees came to Chicago, and for most of that time up to the murder, he worked with Wright & Currier, latterly lodging over their stable as stated. He was addicted to intemperance, and though ordinarily quiet and industrious, had ungovernable fits of rage, not the least frequently called out in his relations to his wife. On the day preceding the murder, the evidence at the trial showed him to have drank freely. The woman had whisky in the house, and among the evidence before the Coroner's Jury was the silent but significant tale told by a jug still containing the demon of that household. The body of Mrs. McNamee was found in bed, where her husband had lain beside her. The appearance of the body, of the apartments all attested to the violence of the outrage which had evidently terminated her life some hours before the attention of the public was drawn to it.

McNamee was convicted at the late January term of the Circuit Court of wife-murder. He had the services of Messrs. Ayer and Mattocks as counsel who have served him well not only in that court but in presenting his case to the highest tribunal of our State, and failing there to the Executive for commutation of sentence. All having failed, nothing remained but to let the law take its course in the solemn events of yesterday.

The PRESS AND TRIBUNE by the terms of a revenge eminently gratifying to Sheriff Gray was excluded from representation at the scenes at the jail yesterday, but no one supposes it to be in the power of any official to cut off the channel of news from our columns. We are gratified in being able to state that within the past few days, as far as our knowledge extends, no abandoned females have found admission to the jail, a reform better instituted late than never, and perhaps worth all the petty privation aimed at by Sheriff Gray, as his acknowledgement of our exertions to bring about the same.

WITHIN THE JAIL.

We have already described in detail the preparations made by Sheriff Gray and his assistants for the execution. The machinery of the gallows was simple. A trap cut in the floor of the second story, the vestibule of the debtors and female wards gave in the united height of this story and the jail basement, about thirty feet. Over this trap a heavy beam, which had served a similar purpose in the gallows frame of Jackson and Staub, was passed across from side to side and morticed into the partitions about ten feet above the floor. The condemned man was to stand upon this trap, the fatal noose about his neck fastened to the beam above. The trap was supported by a bolt beneath, its halves droping downward at the touch of the Sheriff, the victim falling the distance allowed by the fatal cord. Thus much of the preparations, which are of a permanent character and have become jail fixtures.

THE CONDEMNED CELL.

The cell of McNamee was shared by Finn until the day of doom of the former drew near. He has received for months past the daily attention and services of the clergy of his church given with a patience and unostentatious zeal that religionists of whatever order must respect and honor for its humanity, leaving to each the while, their own views on other topics.

Within a few days the sister of McNamee has come from Philadelphia to visit the cell and solace the last hour of a brother, of whose coming doom she was up to a brief period since, ignorant. The children will return with her to Philadelphia, and those who have most intimately known and watched her in her visits to her brother, and conversed with her as to his fate, believe that the little orphans are in good hands. They bade adieu to their father on Wednesday afternoon for the last time, the boy with difficulty torn from an embrace to which he gave the energy and pathos of the most unchecked childish grief

McNamee's cell on the night before his execution was shared by his spiritual adviser, Father McMullen. The poor fellow slept soundly, and was not even disturbed by the noisy alarm of fire noted elsewhere. As an early hour he was at his devotions.

THE LAST SACRAMENT.

About 6 o'clock A. M., a temporary altar was erected in the south-west angle of the jail corridor, and set out with the sacramental utensils, and the sacrament administered to the condemned men, Finn and McNamee, also shared in by their friends visiting them, as also by other of the prisoners.

Throughout yesterday McNamee maintained the utmost composure, not stoicism, nor indifference, but buoyed up by his faith. Finn was all in tears, and expressions of sympathy and horror for "Poor Mac," such has been the friendship established between these two men. Yesterday forenoon the following statement was given in writing to his counsel by McNamee. It should be read as a fresh warning against a monster vice of the community.

MACNAMEE'S STATEMENT.

The following confession or statement was made by McNamee yesterday morning:

I am about to die, and of all men I understand best the merits of my case. I have been told that my wife died of the abuse she received at my hands; but I do not hold myself guilty of murder, for I was so drunk that I had lost the use of my reason, and knew not what I was doing.

It was a false view to take of my case, to suppose that I abused the body of my wife in order to make it appear that it was by others, and not by me, that she met her sad fate; for if I had had such a command of myself, I never should have inflicted on her such a serious injury.

Since a boy, of fourteen, I loved my wife more than tongue can express. Until lately we always lived in peace, and although I had sometimes threatened her, yet I never hurt her so as to injure her before that unfortunate hour. I would not cast a reflection to the memory of the wife I loved, and the thought of having caused her premature death, for which perhaps, she was but ill prepared, troubles me far more than the fate that awaits me. Oh! when I saw her the next morning dead, and could comprehend what abuse I had inflicted on her, had I possessed a thousand lives I would willingly have sacrificed them all to recall her life. I have never ceased to pray for her, and hope that our loving God has had mercy on her, as I hope to receive mercy likewise.

God has been very kind in giving me a long time to prepare for eternity.

Although I do not hold myself guilty of murder before God, for I knew not what I was doing, yet I entertain no bad feelings towards any one, not even those who have taken a different view of my case, and gladly offer my life to God in obedience to the laws of my country.

It only remains to express my gratitude to the many who have interested themselves in my behalf, and particularly to my counsellors, who without hope of reward from me, left nothing undone to save my life.

Christians pray for me. Into thy hand, O Lord, I commend my spirit.

Few incidents worth noting occurred during the earlier part of the day, save as concerning the incomprehensible criminal

HENRY JUMPERTZ.

Jumpertz it would seem should have found found yesterday a solem occasion, as that on which he too, but for a suspion of sentence would have shared the fate of McNamee.

In place of this he was cheerful even to levity. He enjoyed the entire freedom of the jail premises, curiously watched the operations and difficulties of the workmen in securing the desired perfection in the working of the machinery, and finally worked at the solution of the same himself. Will it be believed that Jumpertz himself wrought at the construction of the gallows yesterday, and that it was on a model and after a plan suggested by himself that the apparatus was finally passed upon as satisfactory! He conversed cheerfully and lightly with the visitors as to the mode of execution. The Journal of yesterday states:

In a conversation with our reporter he remarked "that the trap worked beautifully, and he thought it a decided improvement upon the old method of hanging." He also remarked "that McNamee was a very superstitious man, and thought that he was going directly to Heaven, but it was just as well that he should be relieved of all dread and anxiety."

We doubt whether such coolness and absence of all, even proper feeling, is not an anomaly. We might suggest the query whether in the doubt that invests the fate of this unfortunate young man, it were not more a charity to leave him more to himself, to remove from him an atmosphere of levity, and to allow him, in a solitary cell, to anticipate something of the feeling that will burst as an avalanche upon him should his case be allowed to take its course unchecked. Gloom and loneliness will do him no harm whether Jumpertz have years yet to live or otherwise.

High Mass had been performed at eleven o'clock, and extreme unction administered to McNamee. After this he partook heartily of the first meal of the day.

Shortly after dinner Finn entered his cell and an affecting scene took place; he clasped McNamee about the neck and wept like a child, uttering ejaculations similar to—"Mac, you're a good boy; you've been kind to me while we've been together in this place, and I am prepared to die as you, and to go with you, and almost wish I could."

At a little after two o'clock, Finn and McNamee had a final parting, when the latter gave himself up entirely to devotions, and each and every one was restricted from going any where near the cell. At half-past two, the hour assigned for the execution, the attendants proceeded to array him in the habiliments of death. McNamee was attended by Rev. Messrs. Butler, Lyons, McMullen and Edwards, of his Church. When the hour came for him to leave his cell, he was attired in a large, loose robe of sombre hue, falling to his feet, and trimmed with white. This bore on the breast a cross, and on the back the letters "I. H. S." in white.

The hour of the execution of McNamee had been fixed at three P. M. By that time the jury summoned by the Sheriff had gathered within the jail, where were present J. A. J. Burdsall, C. A. Kellogg, C. B. Jones, E. Schlager, H. M. Flint, John Boorman, George D. Kellogg, C. P. Bradley, Dr. Erast Smith, H. N. Snyder, Dr. M. Parker, Dr. W. H. Baltzell.

The two physicians whose presence is required by law, were designated as Dr. McVicker and Dr. Max Myers. This constituted the list of spectators of the scene of execution, swelled only by the presence of the officers of the law.

Without the Court House and at the entrances of the Square, where crowds were gathered, a most intense though subdued feeling was manifest.

Ten minutes before three o'clock the mournful procession passed from McNamee's cell up the stairs from the jail basement to the ghastly preparations on the main floor above.

THE EXECUTION.

The mode of adjusting the fatal noose is known as the French method. To prevent just what subsequently occurred, the slipping of the knot, thus substituting slower strangulation for the instant death by dislocation of the neck, the cord about the neck is exchanged for thick, double, sewed belt of leather, nearly a hand's breadth wide, of length a little less than the circumference of the neck. In the ends are eyelets through which the rope passes. Thus a stiff collar is made which renders dislocation inevitable. The collar used yesterday was the same used at the execution of Staub. It was adjusted to the neck of McNamee, his hands were bound, the black cap drawn over his eyes, he stands upon the fatal trap, the clergy repeat the prayers of the church, and while in the utterance of "Our Father, which art in Heaven," the drop falls, the bound frame of the condemned wretch descends a distance of eight full feet upon the straining cord, it holds, but horrible to relate, the collar parts at the eyelet, and the victim falls heavily fifteen feet upon the floor of the jail basement. A cry of horror escapes the spectators. There is no movement of life in the black robed and hooded body. Officers Bradley, and Palmer, and Kennedy, and Greene, raise it, bear it to the head of the stairs, before the first symptoms of consciousness on the part of McNamee are noticed.

The hood is removed, and under the excitement of that awful hour the bruises of a fall, at another time no light affair, were probably unfelt by the wretched man. He was asked "can you stand alone?" and probably misunderstanding the question answered, "Yes I can stand, that and twice that."

The rope was then re-adjusted, this time the usual noose. The priests take their position at his side, he bids them again adieu, and at a given signal the clang of the falling trap, the rush of the descending body and the sharp twang of the straightened cord, and the struggling frame of McNamee was suspended in the air.

By some misadjustment, this second time the knot slipped aside, and the neck was not broken. When the body had hung fourteen minutes the heart circulation was still apparent, though faint. The struggles of the expiring wretch continued for some minutes. We have no mind to incur the charge of pursuing that officer with a vindictive, spirit by any comments of ours on Sheriff Gray's management of the execution of poor McNamee. That it was badly conducted, and thus from these mistakes gathered horrors new and needless even to the gallows, we submit for the verdict of our readers.

The drop fell for the second time at ten minutes past three o'clock. The lifeless remains were cut down at ten minutes before four P. M. They were placed in a black walnut coffin, and delivered to his sister. A little later a hearse was driven into the Court House Square, and the remains of poor McNamee were borne away from the scene of so much terror, even as he has passed from the presence, though not from the remembrance, of his fellow men.

☞ We find the following notice in Dodge's Western Literary Museum, Cleveland, Ohio:

KANE'S ARCTIC PANORAMA.—This world-renowned panorama has excited so universal an admiration in our midst, during the past two weeks, and the Melodeon has been so densely packed with wondering and delighted audiences, that the proprietor has been induced to stop with us another week—commencing next Monday evening.

Go and see it, by all means, as it is decidedly the best painted panorama ever exhibited in America. The shipping is so natural, that every spar, rope and chain stands out in bold relief, while the icebergs actually seem to cool and chill the whole house for a moment. As a whole, the panorama has no competitor.

HAVE YOU EXAMINED APPLETON'S
New American Cyclopedia.
It is a credit to American Literature, and is worthy of your attention. Please call at
NOS. 39 AND 41 LAKE STREET.
Take an hour to look it over and see for yourselves. Sold only by subscription, and supplied by
S. C. GRIGGS & CO.,
Sole Agents for
ILLINOIS AND WISCONSIN.

[From the Hon. Theophilus Parsons, LL.D., Professor of Law in Harvard University.]
It is the very best Cyclopedia for practical use ever published. I have some knowledge of all in our own language, and of a few of those of the continent of Europe. The book embodies and adequately represents the knowledge available at this day for a work of the kind. Its merit and cheapness must eventually put it in every library.

[From the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer.]
The New Cyclopedia furnishes a greater amount of information, in a more interesting manner, and a more accessible shape, than can be obtained in any other quarter for four times the sum that it will cost.

[From the Woonsocket Patriot.]
One of its greatest merits is that it gives us the latest information concerning the progress of the arts and sciences, whose march is ever onward.

[From the Baltimore American.]
Every subject to which a student or man of general information may desire to refer, will be found in this work properly classified. There is no doubt it will be the standard of reference in every library, public and private.

[From the Boston Pilot.]
It is a perfect treasury of knowledge in all branches of the arts and sciences, in literature, history, biography and geography.

[From the Indianapolis Daily Journal.]
If one has forgotten a name, where a historical character lived, how to build a bridge, what the latitude of Archangel were, where a South Sea island lies, what a Congressional measure may have been, what the latest scientific developments are—he has only to turn to his "Appleton," and find just what he wants.

[From the N. Y. Chronicle.]
We have found it clear, succinct in its statements, profound in its views, learned and comprehensive in its materials, and full of the information which one expects to obtain from a book of reference.

[From the St. Louis Democrat.]
The value of a work of this kind, to every man of intelligence and learning, can hardly be estimated; it will surprise us if this Cyclopedia does not find its way into the homes, and to the firesides, of nearly every intelligent family in the Union.

[From the Richmond Examiner.]
It will really be a Dictionary of Universal Knowledge. The scholar and professional man will find it stored with references to every sphere of learned inquiry.

Published by Subscription, in fifteen large five volumes, each containing 750 two-column pages. Volumes I., II., III., IV. and V., now ready, and the subsequent volumes will be issued every two or three months, each payable on delivery.

UNION OF THE OPPOSITION.

There is not an honest man, with a thimble full of brains, among the sham Democratic or Old Whig parties who can longer pretend that the Republicans as a National Organization desire to interfere with Slavery where it exists, or that their platform on the Slavery question differs a hair's-breadth from the creed which no later than ten years ago both the great parties avowed. That is simply this: Non-interference with Slavery in the States. Non-extension of Slavery into territory now free. That's the whole of the matter, compressed into the smallest possible space. And that the Republicans will maintain and defend that platform, in power or out of power, the experience of the last three years in Congress, in the local legislatures, in Republican conventions speaking authoritatively for the party, is as strong a guaranty as can be given. What more do our Old Whig friends want? Their newspapers tell us that a union of the Opposition forces is a thing most to be desired, that the Government at Washington may be taken out of the hands of the plunderers by whom it has been seized; but that concessions of extreme positions on the part of the Republicans are demanded and expected as an indispensible prerequisite. Will some of these gentlemen at the North, who profess to stand by the political maxims of Henry Clay take up the Philadelphia Platform of 1856, or the Bloomington Platform of the same year, and tell us where the work of expunging shall begin. Shall we be asked to strike out all sentences in reprobation of the repeal of the Missouri Compromise act,—the authorship of which was Mr. Clay's proudest boast? Shall we be told that nothing should be said of the usurpation in Kansas that Mr. Clay would have branded as infamous had it occurred in his time? Shall we hear remonstrances against the expressed wish that our national domain may be preserved from the tread of the slave? Shall we expunge whatever relates to the improvement of rivers and harbors, the care of commerce, the protection of industry, and economy in expenditure? We ask the question, and out of respect for that Whig element in our politics which yet stands aloof from the Republican movement, answer it, NAY! What then, if freedom is to be preferred to slavery as a national heritage, if the rights of the South under the constitution are to be religiously respected and observed, prevents an union of all the Opposition on that Republican Platform as it is? What but prejudice which is unfounded, fear that is without cause, and obstinacy without excuse? The contest for which the union is desired, is not one for the advancement of this man or that; is not one in which the pride of name should have weight. It is a struggle for the supremacy of correct principles in the government, by the operation of which the country may be brought back to its former moorings, and peace between its warring sections restored; and it seems to us that no man can stand aloof, or by his worse than useless action give the Sham Democracy another, and, perhaps, a longer lease of power. Convince us that the Republican party holds doctrines that, embodied in measures, would be unjust or oppressive to any portion of our common country, or that it proposes to nominate or elect men who would not observe the constitutional guarantys insisted upon by the Slave States, and we are ready for any modification of its creed by which such manifest errors could be corrected. But until we discover that we are wrong, that the platform can be tinkered up without cutting from it all that is conservative and valuable, that we are laboring with and for men who are seeking the dissolution of the Union, we must insist that the essentials of Republicanism—no matter by what name called—must be preserved in whatever combination it is effected. We ask nothing more, and would willingly accept nothing less.

Now, if the old Whigs, of Illinois especially, are earnest in their desires to wrest power from the hands of those by whom it has been grossly and traitorously abused, there is no impediment in the way of the exercise of their will in a manner consistent with their high national professions and their delicate self-respect. What do they say?

THE IMPENDING WAR.

Yesterday's news by the Niagara leaves no doubt as to the intentions of Austria. She is determined upon war; and probably ere this hostilities have been commenced. No man can foresee the continuance or result of the fearful conflict. But military men knowing the strength of Austria's position, the number of her troops and the completeness of her munitions in the Lombardo-Venitian States, and the ease and celerity with which her forces can be precipitated across the Ticino and Po, upon the territory of Sardinia, confidently predict that the first advantages will redound to the credit of Austrian arms. After the commencement of the struggle, many days, possibly two weeks, must elapse, before France, though armed cap-a-pie, and ready for the strife, can come to Sardinia's aid at the points where she is most exposed to attack; and in that interval, the first brief campaign may be decided. A glance at the map of Italy will show how comparatively defenceless the eastern frontier of Sardinia is, and how far removed from the aid which the French propose to give. We have no knowledge of the weight of the force by which the frontier is guarded; but when we remember that the entire Sardinian army, levied on a population of but little more than five millions, is less than 150,000 men, and that Austria has now in Venice and Lombardy about 100,000 troops, with facilities by railroad, for increasing that number to an indefinite extent, the judgment of the military critics will appear, even to men of peace, to rest on a solid basis. But as Sardinia has counted the cost and calculated the chances, and as she has displayed great eagerness for the fray, it is evident that she is prepared for whatever the chances of war may bring.

There are many in this country, particularly among the Germans and Hungarians, of the emigration of 1848, who believe that the commencement of the struggle will be the signal for revolution, which, beginning in Italy or Hungary, will extend over the Continental States. They predict that it will be demonstrated that Austrian soldiers are no longer loyal, and that once in the field they will turn with the fury of madmen upon the rulers by whom they are driven forth to chances of death. It has been Austrian policy to employ troops from her Hungarian provinces to hold in check the people of Italy, and to send her Italian recruits to execute the same office for her Hungarian subjects. In all her armies she has maintained numbers of German regiments to keep both Hungarians and Italians in proper subordination. The object is evident. Austrian garrisons as a general rule have nothing in common with the people whom it is their duty to keep down. The sufferers by their presence are not of their kith or kin. They speak a different language, have different manners and customs, different national aspirations and desires. But it is said that this policy will not avail against the newly awakened desire for freedom which, these prophets say, thrills the Austrian ranks. We doubt the correctness of the prophecy. History furnishes few examples in which revolution has established Liberty in the midst of war. The discipline of the field, the esprit de corps, which has its weight even when men are engaged in a bad cause, the well founded fear and hate of the despotic purposes of Louis Napoleon, the impossibility of securing co-operation among the revolutionists themselves, the danger of discovery which accompanies every conspiracy, and the suddenness and severity of the punishment, will neutralize all the plans which Mazzini and Kossuth may have laid. There is little room to hope that they will be enabled to stay the conflict or to turn it into a struggle for the advancement and vindication of human rights.

What effect the war may have upon American prosperity through its influence upon the grain and money markets of the world, we think, cannot now be told. The combatants cannot yet be named. Whether, Russia, and England are to share in the melee, or stand aloof, is not yet certain. Until the material and moral forces to be engaged can be determined, all speculation as to the consequences to the commerce, industry and civilization of the world, is so much labor lost. Time and the succession of events will allot to each of the Powers its part; and then the calculations of the economist begin. In the meantime, it should be the cause of congratulation among our people now at peace with all the world, that their lives, their possessions and their national honor do not lie in the keeping of the crowned despots, whose struggles for supremacy are about to shake the world to its centre. Be it ours to sow, plant and reap in peace, until the influence of American example shall make despotism powerless and war impossible.

THE UTAH IMBROGLIO.

It is now quite apparent that President Buchanan designs sustaining Gov. Cumming and the Mormon Hierarchy, and that Judge Cradlebaugh is to feel the full force of Executive displeasure, for having attempted to vindicate the authority of law and to execute justice upon a set of matchless villains. In a moment of excitement, occasioned by the practical exhibition which a Mormon jury had just given of utter defiance of law and of the authority of a United States Court, Judge Cradlebaugh uttered an unguarded expression, the purport of which was, that if the Mormons were above all law—if they were to be permitted to rob and murder men, women and children outside of the Mormon fold, with entire impunity—he should not draw the reins very closely upon their Indian neighbors, who, in that event, might visit upon the Mormons some of that retribution which their crimes deserved. The remark was elicited by the peculiar circumstances which surrounded the Judge, and no one who has made himself familiar with the manner in which that official has endeavored to maintain the supremacy of law, and to preserve inviolate the authority of the federal Court in Utah, will for a moment entertain the thought that he seriously intended what he was prompted to utter as a threat. Considering the character of the people with whom he had to deal, it is more than probable that he believed a direct appeal to their fears would be more likely to promote the ends of law and order, than anything else he could say or do. That the remark was a highly improper one, is not to be denied, but it ought to be received in view of the atrocious proceedings which called it forth, and as a momentary ebullition of a just indignation, not to be reduced to a practical test, or likely to be thought of again after the excitement of the moment had passed away.

But the administration has no notion of grappling with the ugly Utah question, and settling it upon the principles of law and of the Federal Constitution. There are other Territories to organize and settle, and it may be that more will be acquired by conquest or purchase from Mexico; and as it is the purpose to introduce slavery into all these Territories through the agency of the Dred Scott decision and the Democratic party, it is all important that existing theories of Territorial government be not rudely set aside in Utah, however strongly justice and outraged law may demand it. In order that slavery may go wherever the propogandists have a mind to carry it, it becomes necessary to surrender to Brigham Young and his Legislature all control in Utah. The latter understand this perfectly, and they use the knowledge to strengthen and perpetuate the power of the Mormon Hierarchy. Gov. Cumming, also a shrewd man, versed in Democratic tactics, and well knowing the necessity which impels the President to yield to whatever Brigham may demand—sides with the latter, and exercises the functions of his office in abeyance to the wishes and policy of the Hierarcy. The President sustains Cumming as a matter of State necessity. He cannot do otherwise, without running counter to the theories and purposes of the Slavery propagandists whose agent he is—without subverting the entire policy of his administration, and putting himself beyond the pale of the Democratic party. The same necessity which compels him to indorse the course of the Governor, requires him to recall Judge Cradlebaugh, who has had the hardihood to throw himself athwart the track of the propagandists. To remove him for seeking to execute the law upon the robbers, murderers and polygamists of Utah, would too greatly shock the moral sense of the nation to be hazarded. Unfortunately for justice and decency, but fortunately for the plotters against freedom, the imprudent declaration of Judge Cradlebaugh about turning loose the Indians upon the Mormons, is to be made the pretext for his removal. Already, we presume, his recall is on its way to Utah; and while it is evident that he falls a sacrifice for making faithful efforts to discharge his duty as a Judge, the administration will seek to shield itself behind the pitiful subterfuge, that a single imprudent remark of his on the bench required his removal.

What course the high-spirited officers in command of the army of Utah will pursue under these circumstances, remains to be seen. In the contest between the Judge on one side and the Governor and the Mormon dignitaries on the other, they are known to have sympathized fully with the former. Colonel Johnston dispatched troops to Provo to protect the court and the witnesses, against the protest of the Governor. The officers, we believe, to a man understand that a coalition exists between the Governor and Brigham Young, and that the former in his official action is governed by the wishes of the latter. In their souls they loathe the Governor as much as they do the Mormon Priesthood, under whose authority Utah has been converted into a community of legalized polygamous robbers and murderers. The removal of Judge Cradlebaugh and the indorsement of the course of Gov. Cumming, will be tantamount, therefore, to a censure upon the officers of the Utah army.

It is said, at Washington, that efforts will be made to reconcile the latter and the Governor; but we doubt whether this can be effected. If anything is done towards it, it will be but a hollow truce at best. Should the officers in command at Salt Lake conclude that respect for their profession, as well as a just regard for the supremacy of law, and for the decencies and proprieties of official station, require an unconditional tender of their resignation, we shall not be greatly surprised. Such a course would reflect rare honor upon themselves, and shed new lustre upon their profession. But whatever they may or may not do, let the people remember that all the disgraceful proceedings in Utah, past, present, and to come, are only one of the results of a pre-determination of the Democratic party to carry slavery into all the Territories.

The Flood on the Mississippi.

On Friday evening of last week the river at New Orleans had reached a point five inches higher than the great flood of last year, and was still rising.

At various places where the Levee was low or weak, the water was encroaching, and the people could only keep it from rushing over in torrents by constantly battling against its progress. The levees had to be continually watched, and the weak places strengthened by sand-bags, timber and rubbish; and even then, the water percolating through the oozy, porous soil kept the low places within the levee wet and miry. Along the entire front of the city, and higher than the level on which the city is situated, the angry flood looked but a few inches of being at the top of the levee, which frail barricade was the only obstacle to the overflow of the waves into the streets of the city. In many places the waves made by a passing steamboat would wash over the levee, and trickle down to the ground within, which was five feet lower than the level of the stream. The Crescent, of the 30th ult., says that a rise of one foot more would submerge three-fourths of the whole city, and cause incalculable disaster. There is every probability that the late rise in the Ohio, and the present one now coming out of the Missouri, will both reach New Orleans before the subsidence of the waters at that point, in which event the apprehensions of the Crescent will be realized.

At Vicksburg, last Friday, the river was stationary at a point two feet higher than in 1858, and sixteen inches higher than ever known before. At Memphis, on Friday evening, it was rising again slowly from the swell in the Ohio.

SPIRITUALISM.

Reply of Prof. Tiffany to Dr. N. L. Rice.

Editors Press and Tribune:

I have been reading the report of Dr. Rice's lecture against Spiritualism as published in your paper of March 15th. I desire to review it briefly through your columns. In his lecture the Dr. says: "He would agree with Spiritualists that spirits both good and bad were interested in the affairs of men. We call the good spirits angels, to which the Spiritualists deny existence." Here the Dr. is altogether at fault. Spiritualists affirm in a most unequivocal manner the existence and agency of these angelic beings. And they affirm that these good spirits are called angels because they are employed as messengers for good under the divine administration. Spiritualists believe that angels are ministering spirits; and in this the Dr.'s belief coincides with theirs. They likewise believe in the existence of evil spirits, or those who are not in love with truth, purity and justice; and that they exert an influence over, "and have an agency in human affairs." They believe the New Testament teaches the doctrine of demonical possession; and as Spiritualists they have never "sneered" at that doctrine. There is more infidelity in the church, to-day, upon that subject, as taught in the Bible, than there is among the Spiritualists.

But the Dr. remarks "there is this difference, the angels need never cast about for a medium. The angel at Peter's prison did not wait to hunt up a medium." Here is an exhibition of an inexcusable amount of stupidity. Peter, himself a medium, according to the accounts given of him, from the day of Pentacost until that time, both seeing spirits and hearing them; possessing spiritual gifts in a high degree, under the influence of inspiration, needed no other mediumship than his own for that manifestation. A like medium of to-day might receive the same manifestation from the angels, without the trouble of hunting up other mediums. The conditions described and attributed to Peter, constitute mediumship now-a-days.

Angels as God's messengers have never spoken to the world except through mediums. And God has spoken to the world only through angelic agency, so far as we can know. Why has he ever spoken through the agency of prophets and inspired apostles, if he could have as well spoken without such agency? Why did Jesus appear only to his diciples and friends, and impose upon them the necessity of establishing the truth of his resurrection and ascension, if he could as well have appeared in his spiritual or resurrection state to the material senses of the world? If he needed no manifestation to the physical sense why did he not appear bodily before Pilate, Herod and the Jews? Why did he not walk the streets of Jerusalem, and, to put all cavilling to silence, ascend to Heaven in presence of the multitude? If the Dr. is capable of reflection, and had taken time for a second thought, I can hardly suppose he could have made so stupid a suggestion, as to intimate that spiritual beings have no need of a medium for physical manifestations. By such position he utterly ignores every principle of science, every fact of revelation, and every demonstration of philosophy. He is the last man who ought to require that the man who discusses spiritualism with him "shall have the reputation of a scholar." Many a plain man, without scholastic attainments, can teach him much upon this subject, if he will condescend to hear, the above being a fair specimen of his present understanding of Spiritualism.

Dr. Rice says that he will not deny that certain wonderful phenomena take place; nor is he prepared to say that they can be accounted for upon any other than a spiritual hypothesis. He is disposed to come directly to the question of their reliability and use. This is certainly very fair on the part of the Dr. Although he ought to be certain that his admissions are true, before he makes them. Now what shall be the test of reliability, as the Dr. admits the existence of both kinds of spirits?

By reference to the 18th chapter of Deuteronomy, Mr. Rice will find the test the Lord is said to have given for such purpose, and I think that ought to satisfy him. Beginning at the 20th verse, it reads as follows: "But the prophet which shall presume to speak a word in my name which I have not commanded him to speak, or that shall speak in the name of other gods, even that prophet shall die. And if thou say in thine heart how shall we know the word which the Lord hath not spoken? When a prophet speaketh in the name of the Lord, if the thing follow not, nor come to pass, that is the thing which the Lord hath not spoken; the prophet hath spoken it presumptuously," etc. Now, according to such tests, modern manifestations reveal the presence of both classes to be determined in the same way.

Dr. Rice suggests several tests by which to try the spirits. He says: "A good spirit will not bring a communication from the spirit world at variance with sound philosophical principles. Nor will a good spirit, as the bearer of a message from God, come to me without credentials. He must work miracles," etc. I hope the Dr. will remember, in laying down principles by which to test our faith, to be careful and adopt none he would be unwilling to hear applied to his own. And when applied, I hope the Doctor will stand erect, and not take refuge under the plea of "miraculous intervention."

It is said that Joshua commanded the sun and moon to stand still, and they did so. That Hezekiah, by his prayer, procured the shadow to go backward fifteen degrees on his dial. Now, did these things take place in accordance with sound philosophical principles? And when an angel or spirit, in the body or out of it, asserts such to be a fact, shall I believe him as being within the Doctor's test of truth? Dr. Rice must remember that we have just as much right to dodge under "miraculous intervention" as himself; and that the same loope-hole out of which he can escape, is open to others.

Dr. Rice says, "the spirit must bring his credentials; he must work miracles." How is the Doctor to decide what is, and what is not, a miracle? If the spirit produces results by the use of means lying beyond the Doctor's knowledge, how is he to know whether it is a miracle or not? But again, can none but good spirits perform these wonders? According to Bible evidence, miracles can be performed by evil spirits. The historyof of the labors Pharaoh disclose some interesting facts. The magicians could do everything that Moses did, except to produce the lice from the dust. And I think it would trouble Dr. Rice to prove, "according to well established scientific principles," that the making of lice was any more miraculous than turning a rod into a serpent, water into blood, or producing an incredible number of frogs. It may be more difficult to make lice than frogs; it certainly is smaller business.

The Dr. says: "A good spirit will not be the bearer of a demoralizing communication," and also that their "teaching should bear the stamp of accuracy—should agree with each other." The Dr. does not make his points very clear. While it is true that "a good spirit will not be the bearer of demoralizing communications," it is likewise true that truthful and moral communications are liable to be misunderstood and perverted by prejudiced, corrupted and immoral minds; and thus, in the influence exerted, they are liable to become—in the judgment of Dr. Rice—demoralizing to those who heard him. "Take heed how you hear!" But further, Dr. Rice does not affirm, and it would not be true if he did, that all communications coming from the spirits are demoralizing. If some are, that does not vitiate those which are not so. If there are two classes of character and influence, that is no more than was true in the days of Jesus and the Apostles. If it was necessary "to try the spirits" in former times, it must have been because there were two or more classes of them. Therefore if there are contradictions and disagreements between the good and the bad, is that a sufficient reason for rejecting both? And would Dr. Rice, by his test, regret the good because they contradict the bad?

His remarks upon the "development theory" as they term it, show that he fails to comprehend its simplest truth. He says that the doctrine is, "that man is but a development from infusoria, through slow gradations," etc. And he goes on to remark, "If nature had developed once, why not now? When and why did she stop? The laws of matter are immutable. The fact that she does not now "develope" is proof that she never did." He adds, "the truth is, geology killed this theory. She taught, and thus teaching sustained the Bible, that in and at its creation, everything and every order of animal is perfect after its kind, and that no class ever developed into another."

In reply, I would admonish the Dr. that it is no part of the "development theory" that man, as a spiritual being ever came up through the earlier and less progressed conditions of the material kingdoms. On the contrary, man, as a material and earthy being, derives his material form from the earth; and the conditions essential to his existence have been gradually unfolded, from the commencement of the mineral, through the vegetable and animal kingdoms, until the lowest of the human and spiritual were born. The "development theory, says that man could not have been produced at an earlier period in the history of creations that the incarnation of the spirit, giving birth to immortality in the human form, could not have taken place until after all the preceding orders of unfoldment had occurred. And so far is it from the truth, that "geology has killed this theory," it has, on the contrary, demonstrated it to be true, and revolutionized the teachings of theology on the subject of creation. Geology shows that the work of creation has been one of "development and progress;" and that the six days of theological creation have been extended to immeasurable periods of geological duration. It has been demonstrated that instead of finishing the world in six days God has not done with it yet. The work of creation is progressing as rapidly to-day as at any former period.

Dr. Rice denies that there has been any progress in the race since the days of early antiquity, except it may be under the influence of the Bible, etc. It matters not what may have been the cause of the progress, the Bible, Christianity, or whatever form of truth; if there has been progress of ever so little for the last six thousand years from any cause, that proves the existence of the law of progress, and the Dr. defeats his own argument.

But I am inclined to think there has been unquestioned progress in intellect, morals and religion since the days of Noah, Lot, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Judah, David, Solomon, etc. I do not think the character and conduct of Lot would make him the most righteous man even in Chicago to-day. I think if Dr. Rice should conduct himself as Lot did in Zoar, he would find the moral and religious sentiment of Chicago too hot for him. Solomon with his many wives and concubines, would not be deemed the most wise and saintly man outside of a Salt Lake community, if he lived to-day. I am satisfied that no unbiased mind can read the recorded transactions of those early days without coming to the conclusion, that if such were the highest expressions of divinity then, there has been much progress, taking a pure christianity as a standard of judgment.

In conclusion, I must say, that the Doctor's lecture is unworthy of his reputation as a man of talent and learning. No part of it will stand the test of criticism. His positions are hastily and rashly taken; and are such as he must abandon the moment they are examined; such, indeed, as he would abandon the moment they were applied to his own creed. It is incredible that a great and good man could conduct so foolishly. If he really wishes to overthrow Spiritualism, let him first qualify himself for the undertaking, by ascertaining what it is, and not act so foolishly as to attempt to "answer a matter before he heareth it."

J. TIFFANY.

Progress of the Movement for the Partition of California.

[From the Missouri Democrat.]

By a close examination of the California newspapers brought by the last overland mail, we learn that the Assembly bill for the partition of the State has been reported to the Senate. An attempt was made to defeat it in the Assembly, after its passage, by a motion to reconsider the final vote. This motion gave rise to a protracted debate, in which the slavery question was discussed at length, and with manifestations of strong feeling on both sides. Twenty-seven voted in the affirmative and thirty-one or thirty-two in the negative. What its fate will be in the Senate we can only conjecture. The San Francisco press, with the exception of the Times, seem to be indifferent to the result. That journal assumes that the bill is unconstitutional, because the boundaries of the State are fixed in the Constitution. But we notice that the call for a State Convention, to amend the Constitution, has been sanctioned by both branches of the Legislature, and will be submitted to the popular vote this summer. Should it be ratified, the dismemberment could, no doubt, be effected, if the question did not enter into the canvass.

The probabilities are that the Republican party will make it an issue, and this will elicit the sentiment of the people in relation to its expediency and justice. There can be no doubt that the Gwin-Buchanan Democracy will strain all their powers to accomplish it, because the organization of a Slave State on the Pacific would be a fortress to protect their decaying fortunes. That faction, regarding slavery merely as an element of political power (their familiarity with the energies and success of free labor, forbid any other assumption), would migrate to South California or Colorado, as they have named the unborn territory in the bill.

The inchoate States of New Mexico and Arizona, with the prospective ones of Colorado, Sonora, and Chihuahua, would give the South the continental girdle which slavery demands. Between ocean and ocean there would then extend one continuous expanse of slave soil. The Legislature of New Mexico have established slavery in that Territory. The hot haste with which the organization of Arizonia is pressed on Congress, is attributable to the design of planting slavery in it. Senator Gwin is at the bottom of this also. Lieutenant Mowry, who claims to be the elected delegate of that nebulous sovereignty, has moved throughout in his Washington lobby operations in accordance with the wishes and in obedience to the instructions of the California Senator. In the absence of negroes the peons, native to the region, will answer very well for slaves. Why not in Arizona as well as in Utah? There is no insuperable obstacle in these days to the enslavement of those feeble hybrid caste, any more than in the days of Cortez. The Chinese immigration might also be utilised in the same fashion. The Southern Pacific Railroad is, as we have stated in a previous article, a leading feature in the plot.

Whilst the Colorado project seems to be assuming a tangible shape, the counties situated above the fortieth parallel have taken the preliminary steps for procuring the organization of a separate government for that part of the State. An Assembly bill for that purpose was referred to a special committee, who reported it back with the recommendation that it be referred to the delegations from the counties which propose to withdraw. These counties are named Sukiyou, Del Norte, Klamath, Humboldt, Trinity, Shasta, Plumas, and Tahama.

If this movement did not appear an offset to the Southern one, we should say that California, like Mexico, or the National Democracy, was in a state of anarchy and dissolution. If all the rural districts follow the example of the Southern counties, the city of San Francisco and the State of California will be one and the same before long.

Illinois Emigrants to the Gold Mines.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, April 28, 1859.

At a meeting of emigrants from Northern Illinois, held in this city, April 28, for the purpose of forming an organization for mutual protection in crossing the plains, C. H. Chamlin was called to the Chair, and D. C. McKercher appointed Secretary. It was moved and carried, that the society proceed to elect leaders of the train; whereupon H. Tarbox and J. E. Death of Matt. Peel.

This popular performer died at the American Hotel in this city, about five o'clock yesterday morning. It is stated that a few month's ago when the Campbell minstrels were on their way from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, he was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and that he became so weak that he could not play for over six weeks. Latterly, however, he had been able to play as usual; and appeared Monday evening at St. James' Hall. He had a slight attack of bleeding on Tuesday, but apprehended no immediate danger. In the evening he proposed to sustain his part in the programme; but was taken ill when he was dressing for his character.

It was not till late in the evening that a physician was called, who administered some remedy and left him. Mr. Peel seemed better, sat up in the bed laughing and talking with his wife. Just before 5 o'clock in the morning while in the midst of a conversation with her, sitting up in bed, he suddenly fell back exclaiming, "wife—wife—I am going," and suddenly expired.—Buffalo Courier, 9th.

Traveling on the Canal.

Efforts are making to revive the use of the canal by travelers, and apparently with a strong prospect of success. Capt. J. W. Norcross is running steam packets between Syracuse and Rome, which are largely patronized.

A company has been formed in Rochester, and the stock subscribed for and paid in, to build two steam packets to run between Rochester and Buffalo. The increased size of the canal will enable the projectors to afford ample room for berths and saloons. A boat will leave each city in the evening, and the trip will be made in about nine or ten hours. As passengers may enjoy a pleasant evening, a good night's rest, and avoid the heat and dust of the cars, we should not be surprised if the new enterprise should be popular and profitable.—Albany Statesman.

The Tide of Emigration.

The last week has been one of unusual activity among the Pike's Peakers. Our streets have literally swarmed with them for the last ten days; the roads are good, and the daily arrivals have largely increased in consequence. From daily observation of passing companies, we think we are safe in asserting that an average of at least forty teams have passed through this city daily during the past ten days.

The Des Moines Citizen states that, up to the 27th inst., a little less than 800 teams have crossed the Court Avenue bridge in that city, on their way to Pike's Peak.—Council Bluffs Bugle, 30th ult.

Superintendent Abbott.

We are pleased to say that A. D. Abbott, Esq., late efficient Division Superintendent of the St. Louis, Alton & Chicago Railroad, has been appointed General Superintendent of the same road, in place of A. H. Moore, Esq., whose resignation took effect on the first of the present month. Mr. Abbott is admirably qualified for the responsible position to which he has been appointed. As Division Superintendent he discharged the duties in a manner which showed that he was thoroughly posted in regard to the science of railroading.—Bloomington Pantagraph.

Lancaster Banks.

The assignee of the Lancaster, Penn., Bank, which failed some two or three years ago, with an outstanding circulation of over $400,000, reports that the notes will be utterly worthless, so far as the assets of the defunct bank are concerned, which will hardly realize enough cash to pay expenses. The only chance for bill holders is to enforce the individual liability against directors and stock holders, who, he says, are fully able and responsible to redeem dollar for dollar. Some of the bill holders have determined to prosecute accordingly.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

Bank Robbed.

The Bank of J. Dickey & Son at Farmington, Iowa, was broken open on Sunday evening last, and robbed of currency, drafts, notes, etc., to the amount of about $5,000. Tools taken from a blacksmith's shop were employed to force an entrance, and the safe was blown open with powder. The villains made clean work, taking everything of value in the bank, together with some unfilled and useless paper.—Keokuk Gate City, 3d.

☞ At the corporation election held at South Bend, Ind., on Monday, the entire Republican ticket, with the exception of two trustees, members of the old Board, was elected.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Mr. Cobden was in Cincinnati on Thursday last.

—The Hon. William Slade, Jr., of Cleveland, is spoken of as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor in Ohio.

—The Hon. John Scott Harrison declines to be the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio.

—It is said that Sir E. Bulwer Lytton will make about £15,000 out of his last novel, "What Will He Do With It."

—The Memphis Enquirer expresses the confident belief that the Opposition will gain two members of Congress from the Western division of Tennessee.

—Rev. W. E. McLaren, formerly attached to the editorial corps of the Cleveland Plaindealer, is preparing to depart for Japan, where he will hereafter devote himself to missionary service.

—Gen. Van Antwerp, of Keokuk, has been appointed one of the visitors to the West Point Military Academy next June.

—Mr. Charles T. Congdon, the prince of editorial wits, has retired from the New York Tribune, and gone to live in Lynn, with the intention of writing for magazines, not newspapers, hereafter.

—Within the past two weeks upwards of thirty young Germans have left Cincinnati for Europe, for the purpose of taking a hand in the coming imbroglio between their countrymen and the French.

—The Forney Democracy, of Pennsylvania, have concluded not to nominate a ticket at present. This probably means an union with other branches of the Opposition.

—The Louisville Courier declares that when the North refuses by a sectional vote in Congress to protect slavery in the Territories, it will be in favor of a Southern Republic.

—The National Era says it is not for the generation among whom Elizabeth Browning has sung and Charlotte Bronte spoken, and Harriet Hosmer chiseled, and Rosa Bonheur painted, and Mary Lyon taught, and Florence Nightingale lived, to despair of woman's achievement of her highest destiny.

—The Washington Republic names as prominent candidates for the nomination of the Charleston Convention, as President, Generals Harney, Wool, Jesup, Commissioner Bowlin, and Secretary Cobb. Mr. Orr will, it thinks, if he cannot get the first place on the ticket, take the second.

—The will of the late John Hancock is to be contested by some of the relatives who were cut off with a shilling; and unless all the parties will join in a release, negotiations for the purchase of the Hancock House must await the conclusion of the suit.

—Mrs. Mary Cuthbert, widow of Captain Anthony Cuthbert of the Revolution, was visited on May 1, at her residence in Arch street, Philadelphia, by some fifty of her children, grand-children, and great grand-children, who assembled to congratulate the old lady on attaining her ninetieth birthday, in the full possession of her mental faculties.

—Una, the daughter of Hawthorne, the novelist, was in the last stages of a rapid consumption.

—Col. Forney, in an elaborate article which appeared in the Press of Tuesday, defining his position, says:

The President and his Cabinet, stimulated by the extreme men of the South, have taken their ground in favor of intervention in the most offensive shape—intervention for slavery—first by the Territorial Legislatures, and if they should fail, next by the Congress of the United States; but no intervention against slavery, Territorial or Congressional.

—The Memphis Avalanche has the following reminiscences concerning the brothers of the late Mike Walsh:

The children consisted of four brothers and a sister, of whom Mike was the youngest, and had been scattered in all directions upon the death of their father. Mike alone remained with his mother. A most singular fatality befel them all. One of the brothers was shot in a duel across a table in a Southern city; another fell by the side of the brave Crockett at the massacre of the Alamo; the third brother was burned in the Ben Sherrod, and his sister perished in the ill-fated Lexington. The mother soon followed her children, leaving poor Mike to meet a death, under the circumstances, more terrible than any of the rest.

WESTERN NEWS ITEMS.

THE CROPS.—Taking a look into the country a little way last week, we found many fine fields of wheat. There is not so great a quantity sown as last year, but that growing looks highly promising. Farmers are as busy as bees, putting in spring wheat, corn, potatoes and all the etceteras of which our growing population feel the need. The cultivated prairie for miles away wears a very enlivening aspect.—Urbana Union, 5th.

DEAD.—A few weeks ago it was noted in this column, that there had arrived from Jacksonville, under charge of the Sheriff, for incarceration in the Penitentiary for assault with intent to kill, one Thomas Morgan, of Scott county. Particular notice was made of the fact, because Mr. Morgan was a very wealthy man—his property being set down at $75,000.

Mr. Morgan died in the Penitentiary on Tuesday, and his remains were enclosed in a metalic coffin and sent up the Illinois River last evening on the steamer Post Boy.—Alton Courier.

COAL MINE.—It is a matter of great consideration to men of enterprise hereabouts that there is a satisfactory prospect that a valuable coal mine is about being opened at Central City. The matter has been undertaken by men of enterprise. They first sunk an auger shaft, and found that at the depth of 200 feet there was a stratum of coal more than seven feet in thickness. The next movement was to form a joint-stock company and employ a practiced miner to sink a shaft. We visited the mine on Tuesday last, and found the work progressing finely, the shaft being already nearly sixty feet in depth. It is impossible to estimate the advantages to this part of the country destined to accrue from the opening of this coal mine.—Centralia Press, 30th.

CONVICTED.—Hoberg, the German doctor, who committed an extensive burglary at Traverse des Souix, Minn., last fall, has been convicted and sentenced to two years and two ty days in the penitentiary—the twenty days to be in solitary confinement.

GOING TO MINNESOTA.—The St. Peter, Minn. Free Press learns that a colony of 1,000 Swedes and Norwegians who eave been settled in Illinois for some years, are to remove to the Norwegian settlement in that county. Those now residing there have pre-empted 160 acres each, and are to divide their land into farms of 40 and 80 acres and sell to the new comers. This movement has been brought about by Mr. A Thorson of the Norwegian settlement.

A Spiritual Debate in Chicago.

[From the Indiana Sentinel, 5th.]

We are informed that a debate on the nature and cause of "Spiritual manifestations," as they are called, will take place in Chicago in about two weeks. The parties will be Mr. Tiffany, on the "Spiritual" part, and Professor John Young, of this city, on the other side. Mr. Tiffany, it seems, challenged Dr. N. L. Rice, of Chicago, immediately after the able debater's lecture on Spiritualism, but the challenge was not accepted, whether for want of leisure on the Dctor's part, or indisposition to engage in such a debate, we know not. The opponents of the Spiritualists then turned to Professor Young, and tried to arrage a debate between him and A. J. Davis, the great apostle of Spiritualism, but the apostle would not debate. Then the meeting between Mr. Tiffany and Prof. Young was arranged, and will come off near the first of next month, as we have announced. It will be an interesting affair, for Mr. Young is one of the most acute analysts and debaters we know of, and Mr. Tiffany could hardly fall into worse hands.

SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS IN NEW ORLEANS.—The N. O. Crescent of Monday says:

Miss Mary Way took her celestial way from the Place d'Armes last evening, in the air-ship "Paul Morphy," attended as usual by her gallant cavalier, Prof. Wilson, Prof. Wilbur, and his big smoke-balloon, got off a little before, having gone up harum-scarum, and come down caflumux, before the Morphy was fairly under way. Both went off toward the lake in a northwesterly direction. We did not wait to hear how or where they landed. A good crowd assembled within the canvass to see the ascension, and the usual myriads glutted the streets outside. Miss Way wore a beaver Bloomer hat, a profusion of black ringlets, a black silk dress, and a stylish gray shawl, and looked very pretty as she went up. She seems to delight in being blown sky high.

☞ The General Association of Illinois is to meet at Bloomington on the 26th of May, instead of the 19th as heretofore announced.

☞ The Newport News of Friday last states that sixty-three cottages have already been rented for the summer, being one more than was rented last year on the 10th of July.

Punishment of Adulterers.

[From the speech of Brady, on the Sickles Trial.]

1st. Among the Jews, by the law of God, the adulterer and the adulteress were both stoned to death.

2d. In Greece, Lycurgus decreed that adultery should be punished the same as murder.

3d. The Saxons, by their law, burned the adulteress to death, and over her ashes reared a gibbet on which the adulterer, her accomplice, was hanged.

4th. Some of the northern nations of Europe suspended the adulterer to a hook by the offending parts, and left him a sharp knife, with which he was compelled to inflict self-punishment, or expend his guilty life in protracted torture.

5th. In England, in the reign of Alfred, the woman was shorn and stripped to the waist, driven away from her husband's house, and in the presence of her relations, was scourged from tything to tything, until death ensued, while the adulterer was strung up to the next tree.

6th. In France, under the laws of Louis the Debonair, both parties suffered capital punishment.

7th. Constantine inflicted capital punishment against adulterers of both sexes, and Justinian, in his reformation of the code, left the same penalty menacing male adulterers.

8th. In the vicissitudes of time, adulterers were condemned to be scourged and banished, or scourged and doomed to row for life in the galleys of France.

9th. The Spanish laws deprived the adulterer of that through which he had violated the laws of society and the sanctity of the marriage bed.

10th. In Portugal, the adulterer was burned to death with the adulteress; but if the husband chose to save his guilty wife from this fearful chastisement, she was set free with a line.

11th. In Poland, the adulterer was taken to the nearest bridge leading to the market town, in or near which he resided, and was there nailed or hooked to the main bridge post, a knife being at the same moment put into his hand to enable him to free himself by the mutilation of these parts. Quibus praesumisit peccare.

12th. In the Kingdom of Bohemia, the penalty of the adulterer was decapitation, and that of the adulteress was perpetual seclusion, spent in menial drudgeries and in penance on bread and water.

13th. In Roman history, instances frequently occur of adulterers being put to death; and until the enactment of the lex Julian, the husband had a right of summoning all the relations of the adulterous wife, and trying her on the semicelium, the hearthstone of the household, and there and then adjudging her to death.

DR. CUTTER'S IMPROVED

Skirt Supporter,

Is an Article of Great Utility, which should be

WORN BY EVERY FEMALE.

This Supporter takes the weight of the skirt upon the Shoulders, the proper place, and relieves the stomach and abdomen, of that confinement and downward pressure, which is, by the most able Physicians, said to be the greatest cause of so much weakness, and premature death among females. By taking the weight of clothes from off the stomach upon the shoulders, one is enabled better to stand erect, and thereby expand the chest and breath more freely. This, every sensible person knows, is necessary to the full enjoyment of health.

There are few ladies who have worn their clothes supported by the waist who have not realized the faint, and often distressing feeling, and also weakness of back consequent thereto. Then why not from others take warning ere it be too late.

Manufactured by CUTTER & WALKER, Lowell, Mass.

Instead of using iron, as most makers do—which gives the instrument a metallic and disagreeable sound—or using wood in the ordinary way, which renders it necessary to weaken the part of the instrument wherein the greatest possible strength is required—by cutting across the grain of the wood, Lighte, Newton & Bradbury have a method whereby they spring this patent Wrest into proper form by the aid of steam and heat, retaining all the strength of the wood. A strain of ten tons will make no impression on the arch, while the fibres of the wood instead of being weakened by the customary boring, are interrupted at short distances, have their natural power of resistance greatly augmented by the peculiar form they are made to assume in the Patent Arch Wrest. Every instrument is warranted.

TESTIMONIAL.

BOSTON, July 19, 1857.

Messrs. J. Burnett & Co.—I cannot refuse to state the salutary effect in my own aggravated case, of your excellent Hair Oil—(Cocoaine.)

For many months my hair has been falling off, until I was fearful of loosing it entirely. The skin upon my head became gradually more and more inflamed, so that I could not touch it without pain. This irritated condition I attributed to the use of various advertised hair washes, which I have since been told contained camphene spirit.

By the advice of my physician, to whom you had shown your process of purifying the oil, I commenced its use the last week in June. The first application allayed the itching and irritation; in three or four days the redness and tenderness disappeared—the hair ceased to fall, and I have now a thick growth of new hair. I trust that others similarly afflicted will be induced to try the remedy.

Yours, very truly, SUSAN R. POPE.

☞ A single application renders the hair (no matter how stiff and dry,) soft and glossy for several days. It is conceded by all who have used it to be the best and cheapest Hair Dressing in the world.

Prepared by JOSEPH BURNETT & CO., Boston.

☞ For sale by dealers generally at 50 cents a bottle.

PREMATURE LOSS OF THE HAIR, which is so common now-a-days, may be prevented by the use of Burnett's Cocoaine. It has been used in thousands of cases where the hair was coming out in handsful, and has never failed to arrest its decay, and to promote a healthy and vigorous growth. It is, at the same time, unrivalled as a dressing for the hair. A single application will render it soft and glossy for several days. See advertisement.

Dr. J. Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters is one of the greatest strengthening preparations known. It is especially adapted to those who are attended with the Fever and Ague, or any other disease arising from a deficient assimilation of the digestive organs. For the Fever and Ague there is perhaps no medicine in the world equal to it, as it enters further and replenishes the blood, which is so important to bring about a healthy action in the organs of this nature. The Bitters are now among the most popular, and at the same time valuable specifics in the medical world. In recommending it to the public, we are fully sensible of making them a great service, knowing, as we do, that their many wonderful qualities, and sure and speedy action in all cases where the disease is caused by irregularity of the digestive organs. A trial will suffice for the most skeptical. For sale by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere. apr8-d&w

The Quiet Slumber.
Let him gently to his rest—
Fold his pale hands on his breast;
From his brow—
Oh! how sadly—part the hair—
softly, part the tangled hair,
From his brow!
At a watery chill he shook,
With the quiet breathless eyes,
Of the dead, he looked around,
And on his lip the quiet moan
Of one who sighs in happily sleep,
And on his face the deep repose
Of a power we in Him,
Peaceful be his rest, and deep!
Let him sleep!

No tears for him—he needs them not;
Along life's dreary path and solemn road
Firmly his manly footsteps trode,
Active his hand, his heart warm,
With such a pride upon his brow,
With such a bearing high and proud
The firmness of the manly will,
Calm courage and the hope secure.
Oh! it is well the battle is o'er,
That in the grave he sleeps at last,
Where neither trouble, sin or Harrison
Can ever reach him more.
The cold imploring eyes,
Cold hands and brow in Him,
Peaceful be his sleep and quiet;
Let him sleep!

No sigh to breathe above his kin,
No tear to stain the marble brow,
Only with tender pitying love,
We look upon him now,
We gaze upon him now,
And feel that he is dwelling past—
But joy to think the task is done,
The weary cross at last laid down,
The victory of glory won,
Oh! bear him gently to his rest,
Fold his pale hands upon his breast,
And leave his body to the dust,
His spirit with God.
—Southern Literary Messenger.

Mr. Morphy's Departure from Paris.
We translate from Le Sport a very interesting sketch of the closing ovation tendered to Mr. Morphy, at the hands of his enthusiastic Parisian admirers:

"After six months sojourn in Paris, Mr. Paul Morphy has just left us. He is already far off. He sails from England for the United States, where the homage and congratulations of his fellow-citizens await him, who long to celebrate his triumphs in Europe, and the share which the superiority of his genius for chess adds to the glory of the young Republic.

"It had been hoped that he could be kept a few days longer, but the hour of his departure rudely sounded, and he tears himself from the embrace of the tournament which had been organized at La Regence, for the sole purpose of offering him a festival, a brilliant, yet, at the same time, modest manifestation of the pleasure which had been derived from his visit, and homage of the admiration excited by his fine talent and his amiable qualities. Prudhon and Le Bourdonnais, who preceded him in having attained, in the Chivalrous lists of the Chess board, the perfection of skill and reputation.

"On the first news of his precipitate departure, the Chess players put themselves in motion and promptly organized a banquet, which came off day before yesterday (Monday) in the saloons of the Hotel-de-Hollande. At six o'clock more than forty amateurs of chess, with M. de Saint Amant as their chairman, crowded around a board splendidly provided. Here are the names of some of the guests:—Messrs. Morphy and his brother-in-law, Lequesne, Arnous de Rivière, Journel, Saint, Delaney, Papavoine, Professor of the Conservatory of Music, who was acquainted with Richter, brother-in law of Philidor), Commandant Chevre, Dubail, Van der Huys, Pfeiffer, Bodin, Gillet, Chansson, Pasquier, Morel, Mariage father and son, Budin-au, Gaudin, Lemercier, Fagonidis, &c., &c.

"At the dessert, the part was assigned to M. Delaunay to propose the health of Mr. Paul Morphy, [we, the words, sparkling and elegantly couched, the orator dwelt upon the various incidents connected with the sojourn in Paris of the illustrious American, who has won both the affection and the admiration of all those who have had the opportunity of knowing him.

"With a distinct enunciation, betraying no foreign accent, Mr. Morphy thanked, with great felicity of expressions, the honorable company for all the kindness which they have been receiving from them, and which were but the crowning of all the kind attentions with which he had been overwhelmed, as the ideal of the stylized world, from which one ever tears oneself away with regret, and never without the hope of returning, especially for those to whom he cordially welcomed. He asked, in conclusion, permission to propose a toast: 'To M. St. Amant, so long devoted to the chess cause, and who has always so well served it, with the triple talent of his brilliant play, his spoken and his written word.'

M. Saint Amant rose to return thanks. He praised and much applauded those who, more fortunate than he (prevented by want of time and business) could not, like his Western home, find a similar pleasure in the friendly, and eclectic American, whose incontestable superiority he disputes still less than do the vanquished themselves. He congratulated the Towns in which, only 30 miles from this city on the line of the Lake Shore Railroad.

BY TELEGRAPH.

European News by the Niagara.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The Niagara passed, April 23d, at 4:40 P. M., off Point Syras, the steamships Kangaroo and Alps from New York for Liverpool.

GREAT BRITAIN.—An electioneering meeting in the city of London has resolved to run Lord Stanley without his consent.

Mr. Baring declined the requisition of the London conservatives, and they were casting about for another candidate.

Subscriptions for the Indian seven million loan closed on the 21st. Five millions were bid for at or above 95, the minimum fixed, leaving $2,000,000 to be disposed of, though those two millions would not be needed for some months.

FRANCE.—The last pacific article in the Moniteur exercises little influence in Paris, being negatived by the English Ministerial explanation, which was regarded unfavorable.

The Herald's Paris correspondent says preparations for war are pushed forward with feverish rapidity, notwithstanding the professions of a willingness to disarm.

The News' Paris correspondent says there is no cessation of the armament—masses of troops continue to concentrate at Lyons.

An army is to be collected on the Rhine frontier, and numerous cavalry regiments have already commenced marching thither.

A number of regiments of Hussars have been ordered to proceed by forced marches to the Piedmontese frontier.

French soldiers on renewal of furlough, are reported to have been called in.

Gen. Randon is spoken of as the Maj. General of the army on the Piedmont Frontier.

The first infantry division of the army at Paris is to leave for London by railroad on the evening of the 22d.

PRUSSIA.—It is stated that the mission to Berlin of Arch-Duke Albrecht of Austria, has been most completely successful, he having signed a military convention with Prussia, by which the latter engages to send to the Rhine an army of 80,000 men, under the command of the Prince Regent. If the negociations for peace fail, this force will be increased by the contingent of Bavaria, 60,000 strong, and the 8th Federal army corps of 60,000, whilst the contingents will be held ready for march.

The newspapers in Prussia, it is said, have been requested not to publish anything connected with the preparations for war, or movements of troops.

The Berlin dispatch of the 21st says the semi-official Prussian Gazette publishes an article which states that the assembling of the Congress is becoming more and more doubtful, and that the state of affairs having assumed a more serious aspect, it induces the Prussian Government to think that it is a proper time to make proposals to the Federal Diet for the purpose of taking measures for its own interest and safety. The Government has preceded this proposal by ordering three corps de armis, 70,000 strong, to be placed on a war footing. These measures are merely of a defensive character, and without any aggressive intentions.

The Austrian Southern Railway was retained for the exclusive service of the Government, and troops and ammunition were being constantly conveyed over it.

The danger of war was considered so imminent at Frankfort that the Federal Government which had been holding secret sittings has resolved not to adjourn for the Easter holidays.

It was reported that the Austrians had entered the Duchies of Tuscany, Parma and Madena.

SARDINIA.—The Times correspondent says that Count Cavour must fall, if war is not declared, and such an event would possibly be the signal of insurrection in various parts of Italy, and perhaps serious disturbances in Piedmont, where 20,000 Italian volunteers confidently await hostilities.

ITALY.—The King of Naples still survives.

Naples admits corn into Sicily for two months, from March 30th.

The government at Rome is said to have sent round a private circular to the Bishops, urging them to collect men for two legions of Pontifical troops. The attempt was unsuccessful, notwithstanding a large bounty was offered.

TURKEY.—The apprehensions of war had aroused fears of insurrection in Turkey.

Advices from Bessarabia confirm the reported Russian armaments there, and there are reports of the intended assembling of 100,000 Russians in the province.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The President having declined to accept the Cass-Yrissari treaty as modified, it falls to the ground, as the Nicaraguan Congress does not meet again for two years.

General Jerez will leave on the 5th of June for Nicaragua, to enter the Cabinet of President Martinez.

The Legation here remains in charge of Mr. Molana, who will be charged with the negotiation of a new treaty.

The frigate Lancaster has been ordered to relieve the Merrimac in the Pacific.

There is no authority for the statement that Lord Lyon is to be recalled in the event of a change of Ministry in England. Any movement to reinstate Lord Napier in his place would be repulsed by the President.

The British and French Ministers here have assured our Government in the most positive terms that the action of their Ministers in Mexico is without authority from the home governments, and that their course will not only be disapproved but severely censured.

The new Commissioner of Patents will be appointed to-day. The applications for the post are quite numerous, but the contest is between Wm. D. Bishop, ex-member Congress from Conn., and David L. Seymour, of N. Y.

Attempt to Kidnap a Negro.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, May 3, '59.

A fugitive slave named Jackson, of Clarksburg, Va., was arrested here last night and taken before Judge Marsh, who this morning decided that the prisoner was illegally held and discharged him. Immediately after his discharge he was re-arrested, put in irons, and driven to the depot for the purpose of taking him to Wheeling. A desperate effort was made by the negroes to rescue him, and during the excitement clubs and pistols were freely used, and several persons were badly injured. The attempt at rescue proved unsuccessful. Meanwhile a writ was served on the Marshal, commanding him to bring the prisoner before the Court. This point has not yet been settled. The excitement in regard to the matter still continues very great.

Sharp Practice by Office-Seekers.

BOSTON, May 6.—At an investigation a Salem on Monday last by two agents of the United States Treasury Department, Mr. S. W. Mullett, ex-Inspector of Customs, testified that the signatures of over 500 persons to a petition, recommending Dr. Geo. B. Loring for Collector of Salem, in 1853, were forged in his presence by Messrs. Loring and G. W. Pike. The latter is now Collector of Salem. Dr. Loring, failing to obtain the Collectorship, was appointed Postmaster of Salem, on the recommendation of said petition.

Several prominent Democrats declared their alleged signatures to the petition forgeries. It is not known what action will be taken in the premises. Mr. Pike's opponents are confident of his removal.

Illinois Politics at Washington.

BALTIMORE, May 6.—"Ion," the Washington correspondent of the Daily Sun, states that "A document appears from Postmaster Cook, of Chicago, denouncing Judge Douglas, and excluding him from the Democracy. The same authority affords information of the fact that the Anti-Douglas Democracy of Illinois will be fully represented in the Charleston Convention. Of course the other wing of the Illinois Democracy will also be represented there. It is apprehended that this will not be the only instance of a double set of State delegates to that Convention."

The Washington States (not very good authority) says the report of negotiations between Douglas and other Democrats, is totally untrue.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Judge Cradlebaugh, United States Judge in Utah, whose injudicious course brought him in conflict with Gov. Cumming, has been removed. The vacancy will not be filled for some time.

Judge Greenwood, of Arkansas, who was tendered the Commissionership of Indian Affairs, has accepted it. He is expected here in a few days.

Loss of a Steamer.

CINCINNATI, May 6.—The steamer Jacob Traber, in attempting to land at the wharf this morning, struck a pile of Pig Iron which had been covered by the late rise, and sunk in ten feet of water. The boat afterwards took fire, and will probably prove a total loss. She was insured in this city for $6,000.

The Trial of the Oberlin Rescuers.

CLEVELAND, May 6.—Six of the Oberlin rescuers plead guilty this forenoon. They were sentenced to $25 fine and twenty-four hours' imprisonment. Bushnell is not yet sentenced.

Financial and Commercial.

MONETARY.

FRIDAY EVENING, May 6.

The exchange market, if possible, becomes closer every day. Rates to customers have been very firm, and this afternoon we saw outsiders very glad to obtain a supply at 1½@2½. Thus the matter stands with no immediate prospect of relief.

Gold 2 per cent. with few sales. Among the people generally there appears to be no demand whatever.

Currency continues very abundant. The question among bankers is what they can do with it. Discounts, of course, are very easy at the usual rates.

Street brokerage continues dull with nominal rates, ranging from 1@1½ per month, with tendency to the lower figure. Two per cent. and upwards are obtained by some of the brokers who deal in "this line" for second and inferior quality of paper. The truth is, there is very little paper of a "marketable" quality in the street.

NEW YORK.—The Times of Wednesday has the following:

The market for Money remains quiet, and the rates of, and facilities for, Discounts, both at Bank and on the street, as easy as at any time during the season—the range being 4½ to 7 per cent., for first-class bills, according to date. Demand loans are 4@5 per cent. The additional sales of exchange to-day for the Boston mail were at 110 ₩ cent. for Southern bank bills, and at 110½ for standard names on the spot. Paris, f.5.12½@5.10. Some bills on London, payable on demand, were done at 110½ ₩ cent. The customs paid into the subtreasury amount to $129,090. The net disbursements are $9,000 short of this sum. The balance this afternoon is $6,450,223.

ST. LOUIS.—The Democrat of yesterday says: The money market occupied about the same position to-day that it did yesterday. Eastern Exchange was scarce, and in demand, the rate remaining at ½ premium for bankable funds. Currency continues abundant, yet some houses succeeded to-day in reducing their supplies somewhat from what they were yesterday. We quote at 1¼@1½ ₩ cent. discount.

NEW BRANCH BANK AT ST. JOSEPH.—A branch of the Bank of the State of Missouri is to be established at St. Joseph, and books for subscription of stock in it were opened at that place on Friday. It is to have a capital of $100,000.

COMMERCIAL.

An advance of 2@3c in the New York market, following the warlike dispatches by the Niagara, caused a fresh excitement in the Wheat market to-day, with much activity and a strong speculative feeling—all grades advancing from 4@7c per bushel. Including sales for future delivery, upwards of 80,000 bushels changed hands at $1.40@1.47 for No. 1 Red in store; $1.24@1.27 for No. 2 Red; $1.06@1.10 for Standard Spring; and 96@100c for No. 2 Spring. Besides the above, however, No. 1 Red sold for delivery next week at $1.48 in store. There was a much better inquiry for Spring Wheat than usual, both for speculation and milling, and the market closes firm at the outside quotations given above. The Flour market, which has hitherto been quiet, also felt the effect of the excitement, and about 1,700 bbls were sold at $6.00@7.00 for Winter Wheat, and $5.25@6.00 for Spring Extras—showing an advance of 25c per barrel. The stock of Winter Extras is small, and under a good demand, sellers of choice double Extras are generally holding at $7.00. Corn advanced 1c, with sales of about 12,000 bushels at 72c in store for No. 1. Very little Canal or River offering. Oats, Rye and Barley quiet and unchanged. Highwines more active, with sales of about 650 bbls at 24c. Provisions quiet, with sales of heavy Mess Pork at $16.50 and M. O. Pork at $15.50. Seed scarce. Hides dull, and large quantities of tainted arriving—damaged by the warm weather. Fresh Provisions dull.

The N. Y. Shipping List of the 4th contains the following:—

Under a moderately active demand for wheat for both speculation and consumption, the market is much more buoyant, and holders have succeeded in establishing an advance on most descriptions of 2@5 cents ₩ bushel. The rapid advance in the price of flour has exerted much influence on the market for wheat, and local millers are now ready to resume operations with a fair prospect of attaining remuneration for their labor, as well as satisfactory profits on their purchases, which they complain they have not been able to do for some considerable time past, owing the low rates at which flour could be bought, and the extreme firmness of holders of wheat at comparatively high rates.

NEW YORK HIDE MARKET.—The receipts of Hides last week in New York were 73,500. The stock of Hides in first hands at the close were 77,629 against 135,184 the same time 1858, and 95,500 in 1857.

The following is from Terry Brothers circular:

The receipts of Hides during the week have been large; the market, consequently is for the present depressed, and prices have receded on most all descriptions of dry from ½@1c per lb. It would be contrary to past experience, if the demand for hides should not be large during the month of May, and as prices are rather in favor of buyers, and our stock largely composed of Buenos Ayres and Montevideos, and expected imports comparatively light, we shall not be many days without a more animated business. Green Salted Hides continue in fair demand at former prices.

ALBANY GRAIN MARKET—May 4.—The Evening Journal thus reports the grain market for the week:

During the past week but little if anything has been done in wheat, the supply being limited and prime quality scarce. Choice white Michigan is held at $1.80@1.85, with but little to be had at those prices. The supply of corn has been limited, and with a fair demand the market has ruled in favor of the seller. During the week 21,000 bushels has changed hands, closing firm at 85 for Western mixed, 86 for round do., and 87 for do. yellow. The transactions in barley have reached 31,000 bus., including 1,800 bus. Wisconsin at 60, 5,000 bus. Cayuga county at 63, 4,500 bus. Jefferson county at 72@75, 4,800 bus. two and four rowed State in part at 75, and 15,000 bus Canada East at 75, in New York, to come up the river. Barley Malt is held at 85c@$1. Oats active and buoyant, with sales 11,000 bus Canada East at 58 weight.

BUFFALO—May 4.—Receipts, 3,387 bbls flour; 14,584 bu wheat; 19,359 bu corn; 38 bu oats; no barley. Canal Exports:—2,396 bbls flour; 11,046 bu wheat; 5,793 bu corn; 1,529 bu oats. Wheat in good demand for milling and market firm. Sales of 3,500 bu white Illinois at $1.55; 4,500 bu called white Kentucky at $1.65; 500 bu choice white Kentucky at $1.75; 200 bu good white Ohio $1.55; 1,200 bu red Ohio at $1.50; 900 bu white Indiana at $1.50; and 10,000 bu Mil. club at $1.13 to a Canadian miller. Corn in fair demand and market firm. Sales 5,000 bu unsound Illinois at 75c; 2,000 bush sound Ohio at 80c; and 6,000 bush prime Illinois on private terms. Rye in fair demand and market firm. Sale 1,700 bu at 87½c. Barley nominal at 58@62½c. Oats are scarce and firm; buyers offer 50c for Western. Seeds scarce and firm; Timothy $2.50, and $4.90 for Clover. Whisky nominal at 24½@25c. Canal Freights—33c on flour; 9c on wheat; and 8c on corn to New York.

OSWEGO—May 5.—No grain received. The Oswego Times thus reports the wheat market:

BEEVES FROM DIFFERENT STATES.

A. M. Allerton & Co., Proprietors of the Washington Drove Yards, Forty-fourth street, report the Cattle in Market from the following States:

New York	522	Iowa	273
Ohio	227	Michigan	117
Indiana	167	Missouri	18
Illinois	983
Kentucky	148	Total	2,455

BEEF CATTLE.

Number reported at this market at Forty-fourth street, 2,455

The prices to-day are quoted as follows:

First quality	11	@11½
Medium	9½	@10½
Ordinary	9	@9½
Some extra good Beeves may be quoted at	12	@12½
The general average of the market at	10	@
The most of the sales range from	10	@11

The first market in May, although it has not developed the 14c a pound for beef, earnestly believed by some cattle buyers to be in store for them, has developed one other fact, of equal importance, and that is, that when the market opened on Tuesday there was good reason to believe, from the number of cattle yarded and expected, that there would be six or seven hundred head less than last week for sale, and those on hand also of lighter weight, and in consequence of this great reduction in the supply, an advance of the price could be maintained, and so a strong effort was made by the brokers to effect that very desirable result for the owners. The advance was equal to about ½c ₩ lb. net, and for this the cattle were held pretty quiet up to dinner time, with very few sales, and the general remark of its being the dullest market of the season.

On Wednesday the market opened with somewhat brighter prospects than it closed the previous evening, and some sales were effected at an advance equal to half a cent a pound, particularly for the best class of cattle; but toward noon the spirit of dullness came over the market, so that, upon the whole, we do not feel justified in materially advancing the figures in our table of quotations, but would remark that we consider the market, on the whole, a shade better for drovers, particularly on Wednesday, as all the cattle sold before night, and there were but few left over unsold, although last Wednesday quite a number were left over unsold, some fifty of which were in this market.

The quality of the stock in market this week is not good. Take out the fat portion of the distillery fed beeves, and the balance of fat ones is very small; while the number of coarse, poor brutes, that low freights have brought forward, is surprising. The cost of freight per head from Chicago is only $8, and from Iowa but $7. This reduction of freight, while it proves advantageous to those who had bought Western cattle at prices based upon high rates of freights, has proved more than equally disadvantageous to owners of distillery cattle, for the freights upon this state stock have not been reduced.

THE HOG MARKET.

There is an increase in the supply this week of about a thousand head, and generally of a better quality, and there is a slight advance in price—the range appears to be 6¼@6¾c ₩ lb gross; most of the stock are hogs that have been following the fatting cattle, and such are much esteemed by the city pork packers for the retail trade. There is little or no demand for stock hogs.

BONES OF SOPHIE WERNER.

Dr. BURRUS, of Ohio, Professor of the theory and practice of Medicine, and a Traveling Lecturer for nearly ten years, on Physiology, Chronic Diseases and their Remedies, will lecture:—1. On the Phrenological Organs and Character of Henry Jumpertz. 2. On the Organs and Character of Sophie Werner. 3. Of McNamee. 4. Of Finn. 5. How Busch got clear. 6. The Causes and Remedies of Crime—at

METROPOLITAN HALL,

May 7th, 1859, at 7½ o'clock P. M. Ladies free. Gents 25 cents.

Dr. BURRUS takes pleasure in referring the citizens of Chicago to the following letter from Sheriff Gray:

I have had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Burrus lecture for two weeks in succession, and make public examinations at the close of each lecture. His lectures were highly instructive and interesting, and much admired by all. He speaks from the impulse of the moment, and reads directly from the page of nature. He can describe human character at the first glance, and describes accurately whatever disease the subject may have lingering about him, and seldom fails to tell what diseases their parents have, or died with, among strangers whom he could have had no previous knowledge. He is perfect master of his subject. I take pleasure in recommending him to the citizens of Chicago.

THE OBERLIN RESCUERS.

The attorneys of Bushnell, who was convicted by that Democratic jury in the [illegible] S. District Court at Cleveland, of an attempt to rescue the "man John" from the clutches of the slave-catchers at Oberlin, have [illegible] requested the Court to pronounce sentence upon him, that they might then make application to the Supreme Court of Ohio for a writ of habeas corpus with which to deliver him from durance. Judge Wilson contemptuously refused the application, and meanwhile Bushnell lies in jail, uncertain what may [illegible] [illegible] Of course the Border Ruffian journals are loud in their praises of the Judge's [illegible]. An offence against the right of property in man is, with them, the unpardonable sin for which no forgiveness need be asked. [illegible] spite of their laudations of the Judge, and the ridicule which is heaped upon the highest judicial tribunal of a sovereign State, we apprehend that when the hour comes, it will be found that the people of Ohio will not weakly give up the only safeguard they have against the encroachments of Federal power—the only bulwark by which their liberty of person is protected—and that the Supreme Court, whatever its decision, will be sustained against all the bayonets that Mr. Buchanan can bring into the field.

The trial of one of the other persons charged with the same offence of which Bushnell has been convicted, is going on under the [illegible] cratic auspices, and probably to the same result attained in Bushnell's case.

The Philadelphia Election.

The telegraph, with its usual inaccuracy, reported that the Slave Democracy had carried Philadelphia at the election on Tuesday. By the papers of that city we find the Opposition were triumphant by an average majority of 2,500. The City Treasurer and [illegible] missioner were the only officers voted for by the whole city. The total vote for City Treasurer was 49,353; that for City Commissioner, [illegible] the Opposition candidate for the first office having 2,295, and the Opposition candidate for the second office having 2,771 majority.

Of the newly elected members of the City Council, 6 are Democrats, 8 Opposition; [illegible] Board stands: Opposition members 16, [illegible] crats 8. The new Common Council [illegible] Opposition members, 64, Democrats 21. [illegible] Bulletin in announcing the result says:

The vote was a very light one, or the [illegible] ties for the Opposition ticket would have [illegible] double what they are. Still sufficient has [illegible] accomplished to show that a great majority of the people of Philadelphia are uncompromisingly opposed to the policy, the practice [illegible] trine of the Federal Administration party. [illegible] result of the election is in all respects gratifying and particularly as it indicates what will be the result of the more important State election in October.

THE LATEST PARTICULARS.

LONDON, April [illegible]

EFFECT OF THE NEWS IN LONDON.

After the Cabinet meeting on the 21st, [illegible] patch was sent to the Austrian government pressing the strong disapproval of the British government of the peremptory course adopted by Austria.

The London Daily News says the reply of the Emperor of Austria has been received. [illegible] clines to reconsider the responsibility [illegible] in commencing war in the heart of Europe. Count Buol declares his master, having [illegible] his course, will pursue it to the end.

The London Times says the Imperial [illegible] feels which is to accompany the declaration of war against Sardinia, is already prepared. Austria, mistress of the position, is [illegible] the act of State and deed of war to inaugurate [illegible] sanguinary drama upon which the curtain is about to rise. There is no doubt that the general movement of the French forces [illegible] phases the native Piedmontese frontier.

The English journals generally think the chance of peace has about vanished, and [illegible] on the opening movements of the campaign.

EFFECT OF THE NEWS ON THE PARIS BOURSE. LONDON EXCHANGE.

The London Stock Exchange having [illegible] on the 21st till the 25th, the result of the [illegible] was only partially developed. The news [illegible] pressed on the 21st, after 'Change had [illegible] closed, and consols were offered without [illegible] at 94½, being a decline of one per cent. from the highest point of the day.

At Paris, on the 20th, the Bourse was [illegible] firm, and the three per cents closed at [illegible] On the 21st there was great uneasiness and a panic prevailed. Rentes gave way fully [illegible] a half per cent. on the 22d and the decline continued, it being at one time reported that actual engagement had taken place on the [illegible] of the Ticino. The market closed very [illegible] 64f. 90c.—being a fall of more than [illegible] cent. in two days.

THE PEACE CONGRESS—THE PROPOSITIONS SUBMITTED BY ENGLAND.

The Paris Moniteur of the 21st ult., [illegible] the following:

England has made to the other four great Powers the following propositions:

First—To effectuate previous to the Congress a general simultaneous disarmament.

Second—The disarmament to be regulated by a military or civil commission, independently of Congress. The commission to be composed of six [illegible] [illegible] whom shall be a Sardinian.

Third—As soon as the commission shall have commenced operations, the Congress shall assemble and proceed to discuss the political question.

Fourth—That the representatives of the Italian States shall be invited, immediately after the meeting of the Congress, to take their seats with the representatives of the great Powers absolutely, as in the Congress of [illegible] 1821.

France, Russia and Prussia have given their adhesion to the foregoing propositions. [illegible] land, but Austria refuses to assent to them.

MOVEMENTS OF THE FRENCH ARMIES.

The London Herald gives in a semi-form some specific and extensive information relating to the movements of the French [illegible] It says that orders have been given for [illegible] barkation at Toulon of thirty thousand men—however, to sail till further orders [illegible] given. The divisions at Lyons, Grenoble, [illegible] nancon &c., have also received orders [illegible] ready to march at a moment's notice; [illegible] to move till further instructions. The French forces destined to co-operate with [illegible] dinia in the event of war, estimated at [illegible] will be in two divisions, one commanded by Canrobert, and the other by Baraguay D'Hilliers, the whole directly under the command of the Emperor in person.

The London Herald's Paris correspondent says that preparations for war are pushed forward with feverish rapidity, notwithstanding the professions of willingness to disarm.

The New York Papers on the European War.

[From the Tribune, Friday.]

At last Europe is palpably on the verge of that great war whose approach has been for all seeing eyes ever since the 1st of [illegible] The responsibility of actually commencing hostilities, and of striking the first blow, [illegible] upon Austria; but the moral responsibility [illegible] rest not so much on her as on those who forced the necessity upon her. It is not [illegible] to borrow, a French phrase, is not of [illegible] that she has done nothing which can be construed into a provocation, beyond standing on her treaties with the smaller Italian [illegible] treaties older than Louis Napoleon's [illegible] ment, and made only when they could [illegible] dispensed with or avoided. Besides, [illegible] and everybody knows, that Louis Napoleon meant war from the first, and that [illegible] titations and proposals of Congress [illegible] merely devices to gain time, and [illegible] comparatively incapable of resistance [illegible] chosen the bolder and wiser [illegible] part. She defends herself against the [illegible] assault by taking the offensive. Her [illegible] evidently to conquer Piedmont before [illegible] armies can arrive on the scene of [illegible] then to attack and crush these armies [illegible] sion without giving them time to [illegible] their forces. If we may reason upon [illegible] riences of Mortara and Novara in 1848 [illegible] campaign will be short, unless [illegible] tion is not ill grounded, so far, at [illegible] gards the chances of the [illegible] Piedmontese. It is thus not improbable that the war will open with a rapid and [illegible] cesses on the Austrian side, and the Emperor Joseph may be able to replenish his [illegible] by war taxes levied upon the [illegible] country.

But such triumphs must be short, the [illegible] of Piedmont cannot furnish [illegible] carrying on such a war as this is likely to be. Besides, Austria has no friends. She is perfectly isolated in Europe as Russia was in the Crimean struggle. Even England, [illegible] of the great powers, which has a [illegible] traditionally friendship for her, [illegible] by the menaced declaration [illegible] German sympathies must all be [illegible] the fact that she appears as the [illegible] contest, replete with domestic [illegible] German Government. The position [illegible] she has taken, in this [illegible] [illegible] of Ramsauff owes to the House of [illegible]
